SIXTY DEATHS WHEN TORNADO WRECKS SCHOOL

Seek Three Months Hoist On Campbell Falls Power Plans

Island Boards Ask Government To Delay Award

Unanimous Decision of Associated Boards' Conference is for Suspension of Power Rights' Disposal by Government Until Further Investigation Made; Commission on Hydro-electrics Suggested; Vital Importance of Question Stressed.

(Special to The Times)

Duncan, May 2.—A three month's hoist on the disposal of power rights at Campbell River will be asked of the Provincial Government, following a conference of the Associated Boards of Trade of Vancouver Island yesterday.

Importance of the Campbell River area in the future of Vancouver Island, both as a source of cheap power for industries and as a national park were discussed. Twenty-one delegates attended the meeting, every district except Alberni being represented.

TO PETITION GOVERNMENT

After a prolonged discussion in which several motions were offered the following resolution was carried unanimously:

"Whereas, the Associated Boards of Trade are now endeavouring to ascertain the views of the people of Vancouver Island through local boards and other public bodies on the control of water power; Therefore be it resolved that the Government be petitioned to suspend its decision on the disposal of the Campbell River power sites and other power sites for a period of three months so that the wishes of the boards and other public bodies may be ascertained."

Rev. Montague Bruce, the president, explained that the meeting had been called to discuss a question that was of vital importance to every community. He pointed out that large industries had been lost because of the lack of cheap power. It was not his intention to send resolutions to the Government from the meeting, but when the delegates reported to their boards, every board should give the matter careful consideration and resolutions could then be sent from each board.

FEAR SPECULATION

P. L. Anderton, Courtney, said that his board was convinced that under modern conditions the industrial development of any community depended upon electric power.

"What we are afraid of it that the thing will happen which has happened on other occasions, that the falls will get into the hands of some company for speculative purposes," he said.

A. McKinnon, Cumberland, endorsed Mr. Anderton's statement. The people of that district felt the first consideration in the development of Campbell River power was to lease the power sites on an assurance of a supply of cheap power which would attract new industries to Vancouver Island.

COMMISSION SUGGESTED

The opinion expressed by a Nanaimo delegate, F. C. Grant, was that before the Government hands over our power resources to companies a commission should be appointed to investigate and report on the experiences of Ontario, Quebec and other provinces in controlling hydro-electric projects for the

INFLUENCE OF TALKIES GREAT

Objections Raised in Britain to Conversation of Many U.S. Films

London, May 2 (Canadian Press Cable).—Some alarm over the effect the rapidly developing "talking" films will have on the speech and manners of the younger generation in Britain, inasmuch as the great majority of these films are United States productions, is being expressed here. The London Evening News editorially declares the young of the nation seem to be on the eve of "spending their most impressionable hours listening to the pronounced accent and often the crude colloquialisms of the other country."

CHICAGO AND CHARLESTON

Referring not only to the mode of speech, which "is not English as we want our children to talk it," the newspaper remarks on the purely United States films, crook or otherwise, and asks its readers if their children can listen to two or three of these weekly "without taking to themselves the diction, and ultimately, perhaps, the mentality of the Chicago underworld or the Charleston waterfront."

Sir John Sandeman Allen, Conservative member of Parliament for West Derby, shortly will ask in the House whether the Board of Education will co-operate with the film censors in dealing with this problem.

COAL SHIP AGROUND IN ST. LAWRENCE

Quebec, May 2—The Norwegian tramp steamer Hansa, bound for Montreal on her way to the Great Lakes loaded with coal, went ashore in the St. Lawrence River to-day a little above the Richelieu Island Light, opposite Deschambault.

TOKIO GIVES WELCOME TO KING'S SON

Duke of Gloucester Is Greeted By Emperor and People

Tokio, May 2.—The head of the oldest reigning house in the world extended such a welcome to a scion of the second oldest here to-day as Japan had not known in a decade. Emperor Hirohito met Prince Henry of Great Britain, Duke of Gloucester, at the railway station as he arrived from Yokohama on his mission to bestow the Order of the Carter on the Japanese ruler.

At the entrance to the Palace, Princess Chichibu, acting as the empire's hostess on behalf of the Empress, who expects soon to become a mother for the third time, greeted the royal guest.

The Emperor grasped the hand of the British Prince and chatted with him for a moment after he had descended from the coach to the station platform. Then he watched smilingly as Crown Prince Chichibu left with him in a brilliant procession to the Kasumigaseki Palace, which is to be his temporary residence.

SALUTED CROWDS

The Duke rode in a six-horse open carriage, with red and gold decorations, from the station to the palace. Prince Chichibu, who had met him at Yokohama, where he debarked from the British cruiser Suffolk, was seated alongside of him. Both wore full dress uniforms, the British prince that of the Tenth Hussars and Prince Chichibu of the Third Regiment. As they were driven up the street both smiled and saluted in acknowledgment of the applause from the multitude.

The Emperor returned to his own palace in a motor car unostentatiously a few minutes after the Prince's colorful procession.

LANDED AT YOKOHAMA

Yokohama, May 2.—Japan gave a royal welcome to-day to Prince Henry, Duke of Gloucester, who came to this port from his native island to bestow the Order of the Garter on Emperor Hirohito of Japan.

CRAMER PLANE TO-DAY AT CHICAGO

Chicago, May 2—Several hours overdue, Parker Cramer, aviator returning to New York from an air trip to Alaska and Bering Strait, landed at the municipal airport here to-day from Lacrosse, Wis., where he had been forced to stop last night.

Cramer left St. Paul at 6.30 last night and was expected to fly directly to Chicago. Some anxiety was felt when he failed to make an appearance last night. He chose to land at Lacrosse rather than hazard the night flight to Chicago.

DOMINION'S SHIPS ADD MUCH TRADE

Thornton Tells Commons Committee How C.G.M.M. Lines Are Adding Exports

Ottawa, May 2—Adopting the annual report of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine to-day, the Commons committee on railways and shipping canvassed the whole of the Government's shipping activities.

The value of the traffic carried by the fleet of ships in the year was reported at $158,000,000, the cargoes totaling 1,307,000 tons.

A suggestion this forenoon by Hon. H. H. Stevens, Conservative, Vancouver Centre, that Sir Henry Thornton, president of the company, address himself to task of reconstructing finances of the C.G.M.M. with a view to eliminating the deadweight losses incurred year after year met with Sir Henry's approval. He was giving that matter his consideration, he said.

Hon. C. A. Dunning, Minister of Railways, asked if Mr. Stevens would support such a project if it were brought down by the Government next year and Mr. Stevens replied in the affirmative.

HUDSON BAY ROUTE

The commercial value of the Hudson Bay route was discussed, but Sir Henry was opposed to the suggestion by Mr. Stevens that the smaller vessels of the company be put on that route in the beginning in order to demonstrate its feasibility. Mr. Dunning felt that in order to give the route a real "tryout" it would have to be done with vessels better equipped than the Government steamships. He was confident, however, that when everything was ready a proper trial would be given. As far as the feasibility of the route was concerned, this had been demonstrated by the Department of Railways and Canals, whose ships had constantly gone into Hudson Bay.

LUMBER FROM B.C.

Mr. Dunning cited how one ship, not belonging to the C.G.M.M., had loaded

DEBT STATEMENT MADE BY BRITISH HOUSE OF LORDS

Principle of Balfour Note Approved By Second Chamber in London

London, May 2.—The House of Lords, after a brief discussion to-day, approved a motion introduced by Lord Birkenhead approving the principle of the famous Balfour note on Britain's war debts, and declared Great Britain had never had the credit she was entitled to for being prepared at the end of the Great War to "forego every war debt owed her on the basis of complete cancellation."

There was a good attendance when Lord Birkenhead spoke on his motion of approval of the British stand not to demand more from her debtors than would suffice to pay her own debt service to the United States.

"Let it go around the world that we in Britain at the end of the World War were prepared to forego every debt owed to us on the basis of complete cancellation," he said.

NEW BRITISH DIRIGIBLE R-100 IS EXPECTED TO FLY IN JUNE

CONCESSION AT GENEVA BY U.S. TO BRING TREATY

Disarmament Commission Told U.S. Withdraws Reservation on War Materials

Geneva, May 2—As an outcome of last week's withdrawal by the United States of objections to the non-limitation of trained army reserves, Hugh S. Gibson, United States representative at the preparatory disarmament conference here, to-day announced withdrawal of the Washington Government's reservation concerning war materials in stock.

At the opening of discussion on war materials, Mr. Gibson said the analogy between materials in reserve and trained army reserves was so close he need only take a moment to explain the position. Throughout earlier debates, he said, the United States delegation had endeavored to persuade the other delegations that materials in reserve should be limited on the ground (1) that they actually existed in time of peace; (2) that they conferred a decided advantage on their possessor should war break out, and (3) it was important to make a clear distinction between materials in stock and in service.

However, as in the case of trained reserves, the United States delegation was prepared to make a concession and to defer to the opinion of the countries primarily concerned.

COMMUNISTS IN WINNIPEG MARCH

More Than 2,000 in May Day Parade; Meeting in Toronto

Winnipeg, May 2—Headed by a brass band playing the "Internationale" and "The Red Flag," communists of Winnipeg celebrated May Day with a parade through the principal thoroughfares of the city last night. There were more than 2,000 marchers in the parade, including several hundred children.

TORONTO INCIDENT

Toronto, May 2—A May Day gathering of 250 communists staged a free speech fight here yesterday. The meeting was watched by ten constables. At the conclusion of the last speaker's remarks, students of the University of Toronto appeared on the scene, drowning out any attempt of the communists to sing the "Internationale" by collaborating lustily in "The Maple Leaf Forever" and the National Anthem.

URGES CITY SHARE COST OF RAIL PLAN

Counsel For Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway Says Interswitch C.N.R. Advantage

Railway Board of Canada Asked to Apportion Costs Between City and C.N.R.

Submitting that plans prepared by the Canadian National Railway for the interswitch rail connection between Canadian Pacific and Canadian National lines on the Songhees Reserve called for an expenditure in the neighborhood of $40,000, and urging that this cost be apportioned between the city and the Government road, E. P. Flintoft, K.C., counsel for the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway, has filed written argument with the Railway Board of Canada, it was learned in the city to-day.

The Railway Board will hear argument as to the sharing of the cost of the facility at the next session on the Coast, to take place at Vancouver or Victoria this Summer. The Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway is asking that no portion of the cost of the switching facilities or their upkeep be placed on the E. & N., but be apportioned between the City of Victoria and the Canadian National Railway.

Formal notification of this stand has been handed to the city, it is understood. Some months ago the Railway Board made the order which provided for the institution of the rail switch on the industrial reserve, but left the question of cost open to argument.

Counsel for the Canadian Pacific Railway will contend, it is understood, that the facility is of chief benefit to the Canadian National lines on the Island, and that the division of the cost should follow that contention. The cost of installation is placed at $40,000, while on figure for the cost of maintenance is yet available.

MRS. E. RAYMUR DIED TO-DAY

Widow of Former City Comptroller Was Born Here in 1865

After a lengthy illness, Mrs. Elizabeth Raymur, widow of the late James L. Raymur, for many years City Comptroller of Victoria, passed away at 2.15 a.m. to-day in St. Joseph's Hospital, where she has been a patient for the last eighteen months.

In the passing of Mrs. Raymur, Victoria loses one of its best-known pioneer residents. She was born here in 1865, a daughter of the late David W. Higgins, who was elected Speaker of the Legislature in 1869 and was for many years proprietor and editor of The Colonist. She received her education at Miss Dupont's school in Toronto, one of the best-known schools in Canada in early days, to which many prominent Victoria families sent their daughters.

During the war Mrs. Raymur was an indefatigable worker in the cause of the returned soldiers, her ready sympathy being intensified by the presence of her two sons at the front. Her only daughter, Davida, who was well known as a V.A.D. worker throughout the war, passed away in 1918. Mr. Raymur predeceased his wife in May, 1923.

The late Mrs. Raymur is survived by two sons, James Arnold, Seattle, and Kenneth Malcolm of Victoria; two brothers, Frank Higgins, K.C., Victoria, and Dr. Paul Higgins, Oakland, Cal., and one sister, Mrs. Maud Corsan, Beverley Hills, Cal., also one granddaughter in Victoria.

The funeral will be held from the B.C. Funeral Chapel on Saturday at 2 o'clock, proceeding to Christ Church Cathedral for services at 2.15 p.m. Interment will be made in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery.

New York Instruments Record Earth Shocks

New York, May 2—The seismographs at Fordham University yesterday recorded a "very violent" earthquake, estimated to have centred 5,575 miles southwest of New York, observatory officials explaining the belief the quake was off the coast of Japan, "if not in Japan."

The disturbance began at 10.52 a.m. Eastern Daylight Time, reached its maximum intensity at 10.55 and lasted until 12.40 a.m.

BOARD LEARNS OF METHODS OF GRAIN HANDLING

Shipments From Here Are Superior to Vancouver Quality, Says Inspector

Operations at Victoria Elevator Are Minutely Examined By Investigators

Exhaustive technical information on grain handling methods used in British Columbia elevators was secured by the Saskatchewan Grain Commission when it continued its sessions here to-day.

The commission displayed interest in every phase of elevator grain grading operations. Its purpose evidently was to determine whether these operations are fair to prairie grain shippers and it went into many technical aspects of this matter unfamiliar to the layman.

The commission plans to wind up its sittings here Friday and move to Vancouver Monday.

SUPERIOR QUALITY

A feature of the session to-day was evidence to the effect that grain shipped from Victoria is superior in quality to that shipped from Vancouver, according to the observation of an inspector who has worked in both ports.

Before examining the methods used to grade grain at the Panama Pacific elevator in Victoria, the commission considered briefly the movement of grain from the mainland to Victoria by ferry.

FERRIED FROM PORT MANN

H. A. Stewart, district divisional freight agent of the Canadian National Railways here, told how grain is ferried here from Port Mann. Instead of going via Patricia Bay the grain could come direct to Ogden Point if the volume of business justified it, he stated. So far the movement had not been large enough for the direct operation except in the case of isolated grain shipments.

The ferry to Port Mann from Patricia Bay operated daily, he said. It was necessary to bring empty cars to the Island to take Island goods back. In a week probably about 100 empty cars came here, the expense fo their movement being irrespective of the grain movent. If the grain movement grew sufficiently it would come direct to the elevator instead of through Patricia Bay. Commercial traffic, however, would continue via Patricia Bay.

S. R. Denney, deputy grain inspector at the Panama Pacific grain elevator here, was examined in detail on his qualifications and experience. He said he was the only inspector of grain in Victoria, and told how he carried out his work.

COMMUNISTS IN REICHSTAG HALT DAY'S SESSION

Demonstration Follows Killing of Number in May Day Street Fights

Berlin, May 2.—Violent demonstrations by Communist deputies caused an interruption of the sitting of the Reichstag this afternoon.

BERLIN DEATHS

London, May 2.—Exchange Telegraph Company dispatches said fighting in the streets of Berlin growing out of May Day demonstrations continued until an early hour to-day.

The final big encounter was in the southeastern part of the city, where 150 police stormed a barricade. Two persons were killed and seven critically injured.

FIGHT IN BERLIN

Berlin, May 2—Communists, in an attempt to "conquer the streets" for May Day, caused a riot last night in the working-class quarter in northern Berlin. They erected barricades, using street repair material, and held off police with rifle and pistol fire until armored cars forced the obstructions and enabled the authorities to clear out the surrounding houses. The chief casualties of the day were reported as eight dead and eighty seriously injured. Hundreds of others suffered bruises from missiles or policemen's clubs.

Kovno, Lithuania, May 2—Several communists were killed and many wounded here yesterday when police fired on demonstrators who had defied an order forbidding May Day assemblages.

SNOW BLANKET IN CENTRAL U.S.

Large Areas of Illinois and Missouri Report Losses

St. Louis, May 2.—More than three inches of snow fell to-day over a wide area in southern and eastern Missouri and southern Illinois in the most severe storm in May in more than twenty-five years.

The temperature dropped to the freezing point and a strong wind gave the storm the resemblance of a mid-winter blizzard. Grave fears were expressed that heavy damage would be done to crops, especially fruit. The United States weather bureau forecast frost for to-night in the Missouri Ozarks fruit belt. A heavy frost would virtually wipe out the fruit and strawberry crops with losses reaching millions of dollars.

The storm paralyzed wire service.

Approximately three inches of snow fell in St. Louis in three hours, and Springfield, Mo., reported a six-inch snowfall.

HEAVY LOSSES

The wintry blast followed a day and night of heavy rains, destructive hailstorms and heavy winds and small tornadoes in the Missouri-Illinois-Arkansas region. Southern Illinois counties eported damage of more than $1,000,000 by wind and hail in a storm last night.

The snowstorm, which broke here shortly after 5 a.m., had abated at 8.30 o'clock.

SNOW AT CHICAGO N

Chicago, May 2.—Flurries of snow fell here to-day just ahead of a downpour of rain.

MANY RETURNED MEN NAMED ON POSTAL STAFFS

996 Appointed Since Hon. P. J. Veniot Became Postmaster-General of Canada

Commons Expresses Confidence in Administration By Rejecting Amendment

Ottawa, May 2.—The House of Commons, immediately after it had rejected the Stewart amendment yesterday afternoon, went into committee of supply on the estimates of the Post Office Department. Only a few minutes remained before adjournment, however, and no progress could be made with the appropriations, so they were sent over till this afternoon.

LOYAL TO INSTITUTIONS

"I do not propose to refer to personal matters," said Hon. P. J. Veniot, Postmaster-General, during the debate which preceded the vote, replying to Conservative criticisms. "The people of Canada know the Veniot family takes second place to none in its loyalty to British institutions and the Canadian constitution."

He was an Acadian and proud of it, he told a member who interrupted him. The Acadians were loyal, more loyal than the Canadians of British ancestry, because they were a conquered people loyal by gratitude for the justice they had received. Canadians of British ancestry were loyal by nature.

The Stewart amendment was a Conservative attempt to censure the Postmaster-General. Moved by H. A. Stewart, Leeds, Ont., it expressed the view that "the administration of the Post Office Department by the present Postmaster-General has been characterized by inefficiency, disregard of the provisions of the Civil Service Act, the Post Office Act and other authority and merits the disapproval of the House." It was rejected by ninety-two votes to sixty-eight.

Mr. Veniot referred to post office dismissals and rejection of applicants for appointments, including cases in British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan, where he had rejeceted civil service certificates given to returned soldiers. Character, civil re-establishment or some other cause had taken the weight out of the certificates and given grounds for his decisions.

INSPECTOR SUSPENDED

Mr. Veniot again referred to the St. John, N.B., case, where an investigation was now under way by the Post Office Department on account of what he termed the chages leveled against W. P. Griffith, inspector of the St. John postal district, by Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader in the House of Commons, Tuesday. Mr. Veniot said he had suspended Griffith pending the outcome of the investigation.

RETURNED MEN APPOINTED

Mr. Veniot stated 996 returned men had been added to the post office staff throughout Canada in various capacities during his administration.

Answering Conservative statements on dismissals Mr. Veniot said no word had yet been discovered in the dictionary to characterize the record of dismissals by the Conservatives between 1911 and 1917. There was no wind strong enough to prevent it "stinking in the nostrils of the people of Canada."

The Tories in Canada were the political executioners par excellence and although they had been in power for only a short time in 1926, the signs of their political axe had been found in every part of the country.

ENDORSED BY PAPERS

Mr. Veniot closed with an affirmation that his record as Postmaster-General had been endorsed by the Conservative journals of Montreal and Quebec City.

COLWOOD HOLDS BIG FIELD DAY

Third Annual Health Day Held By Esquimalt Nursing Service

Colwood, May 2.—The third annual health and sports day held at Colwood yesterday was a decided success. The sports and health demonstrations were held under the auspices of the Esquimalt rural nursing service, which serves the following schools: Colwood, Langford, Albert Head, Luxton and Happy Valley, each school taking part in the various competitions.

Through the courtesy of Colonel Hodgins, the sports were held on his property, and all events were eagerly and keenly contested. Colwood School was successful in obtaining the highest aggregate points in the boys' events, and won the Van der Byl Trophy. In the girls' events Langford School won the Mrs. Herbert Pendray Cup for most points.

J. T. Bruce, principal of the Colwood School, was chairman of the sports committee, his assistants being Major Godfrey, Capt. James, Messrs. Pennington, Brown, Hebden and Couchman.

FINE CONCERT

In the evening Colwood Hall was taxed to capacity, and a performance that was both a credit upon teachers and pupils of the schools above mentioned was well received.

An opening chorus by pupils of the Langford School was followed by a short play entitled "An Argument in the Kitchen," setting forth the value of milk as a food. The cast was: Eileen Hincks, Kathleen Willson, Allan Jackson, Campbell Brown, Stanley Jackson, Margaret Smedley, Howard Smedley, Hazel Oaks, Pamela Bennett, Victoria Willson, Jean Clarke, Hamish Bullen, John Wilkinson, Ronald McCrimmon, Dean Johnstone, Tom Dixon, Robert Brotherston, Georgina Cooney, Ruth Pearce, Frances Wale, Elizabeth Welch, Winnifred Guy, Margaret Guy and Charles Baynes.

The pupils had been trained by Miss Hilda Guy, teacher of the senior room in Langford School.

Miss Lois Peacey, principal of Langford School, directed the May pole dance, those taking part being Georgina Cooney, Glenys Smedley, Kathleen Willson, Victoria Willson, Frances Wale, Rosemary Bullen, Molly Dixon, Betty Cooney, Sheila Rennington, Marjorie Sing, Gladys Staverman, Eileen Hincks.

COSTUME PLAYLET

In costumes of Japan, Italy, Arabia, Holland and Lapland, fourteen Happy Valley School pupils, in dance and song, introduced a playlet entitled "Milk for the Home." The pupils taking part were John Cation, Adeline Rhode, Wilbur Rhode, Elsie Butt, Catherine Hutchison, Kathleen Oliver, George Hutchison, Etta McLeod, Jean McEwan, Ruth Anderson, Esther Hutchison, Lillian Rose, Violet Bailey and Neil McKay. The training of the children had been supervised by Miss L. Smith and Mrs. Kipling, teachers of the school.

Exceedingly well performed was the musical drill by the senior pupils of Colwood School, under the direction of J. T. Bruce, principal of the Colwood School.

The junior pupils of Colwood presented an amusing playlet entitled "Safety First Train to Good Health Land," wee Sybil Page acting as conductor, while the passengers were Kathleen Goodall, Joan Godfrey, Ethel Brown, Dorothy Page, Doris Peatt, Mildred Peatt, Lyn Pierce, Frances McEwan, Charlie Carnegie, Sammy Johnson, Fred Longworth, Bruce Millburn, Bobby Little, George Blogg and Sheldon Piercy. Miss Caroline Godfrey directed the play.

Two Colwood pupils, May Wishart and Edith Walsh, gave a creditable performance of the Highland Fling.

The final selection was the Albert Head play, showing different steps in the production of bread. The young performers were Brydon Brotherston, Peter Brotherston, Peggy Higgs, Amy Cawley, Amy Keevil, David Brotherston, Hilda Brotherston, Frank Spencer and Sheila Cawley. The children had been trained by Miss Frith, teacher of the Albert Head School.

PRIZES AWARDED

Presentation of cups, shields, trophies and prizes followed. E. P. Ashe, president of the Esquimalt Rural Nursing Service, acted as chairman. Also on the platform were: Dr. H. E. Young, Secretary of the Provincial Board of Health; Dr. D. Berman, of Saanich Health Centre; J. B. Munro, Deputy Minister of Agriculture; Dr. Irene Barstow Hudson and Mrs. C. Brown, secretary-treasurer of the Esquimalt Rural Nursing Service.

Mr. Shelly announced that names of persons who have not paid up their income taxes will be published, so that everyone may see who they are. He said there were about fifteen per cent who have not paid up.

He also announced that in addition to the loans being raised by the Government this year, he planned to float $4,000,000 more next year.

No wonder COLGATE'S CLEANS TEETH BETTER

It contains the world's best cleansing agent.. a penetrating foam that cleans where the tooth-brush cannot reach.

A scientist has recently proved why Colgate's cleans better. He made an important experiment with toothpastes . . . He measured their power to penetrate the tiny crevices in teeth and gums . . . He found that some dentifrices merely scrub the outer surfaces of the teeth. Others go partly down into the larger crevices . . . Then he discovered that Colgate's has a higher penetrating power than any of the leading dentifrices on the market today.

This is the secret of Colgate's remarkable ability to clean—it gets down deep into the hard-to-clean places where the toothbrush cannot reach. Colgate's superior penetrating power is due to the fact that it contains the world's greatest cleansing agent.

When brushed, this cleansing agent bursts into a sparkling, snow-white foam that sweeps over teeth and gums. This foam possesses a remarkable property (low "surface-tension") which enables it to go deep down into the tiny tooth crevices where decay starts. There, it dislodges clinging food particles and mucin, washing away these impurities in a detergent wave.

In this foam is carried a fine chalk-powder—a polishing material used by dentists—which polishes the enamel safely, brilliantly. Thus Colgate's cleans and beautifies; purifies and refreshes the entire mouth, restoring natural loveliness of teeth and gums.

How Colgate's Cleans Where The Tooth-brush Cannot Reach

Greatly magnified picture of tiny tooth crevice. Note how ordinary, sluggish toothpaste (having high "surface-tension") fails to penetrate down where decay may start.

This diagram shows how Colgate's active foam (having low "surface-tension") penetrates deep down into the crevice, cleansing it completely where the tooth-brush cannot reach.

B.C. FESTIVAL IS UNDER WAY

Daughter of Victoria Teacher Wins Elocution Contest in Vancouver

Vancouver, May 2—Elocution tests, in four junior classes, which were held on Wednesday at Moose Hall auditorium, with Miss Margaret E. A. Crawford, M.A., adjudicating, started the activities of the seventh annual B.C. Musical Competition Festival with a cheerful note. All day the little hall rang with clear childish voices reciting test poems that were outstanding for their content and rhythmic beauty.

TEST PIECES

The test pieces for Class 112, girls under 12: (a) Shakespeare's delightful stanzas from "A Midsummer Night's Dream" (Act 1, Scene 2), beginning "Over Hill, Over Dale," and ending with "I must go seek some dewdrops here. And hang a pearl on every cowslip's ears," and (b) Robert Louis Stevenson's "Shadow March," could not have been better chosen as contrasting studies of light and shade in the realms of whimsy. It was evident they had captured the fancy of the thirty-four young contestants, and again monotony was eliminated in the hearing.

The finals in these two classes resulted as follows:

Class 110: Elocution, girls under 10 years; silver medal. No. 26, Nita Gilmour (medalist), with 182 marks; No. 23, Anne Clemency Ord, daughter of Mrs. Wilfrid Ord, Victoria, 181, and No. 32, Florence Pym, 181.

Class 112: Girls under 12 years; silver medal. No. 2, Anna Pearson (medalist), 167 marks; No. 24, Verann Enman, 185.

CHORAL CONTESTS

In the absence of the chairman, E. S. H. Winn, the vice-chairman, W. G. Hooper, presided at the official opening in Wesley Church, Wednesday night, introducing the adjudicators, Arthur Collingwood, noted British organist and choir leader; Dr. Ernest MacMillan, director of Toronto Conservatory of Music, and J. Peebles Conn of the Glasgow Athenaeum, who is adjudicating instrumental classes for the second year in succession.

Chown United Church Choir, conducted by H. M. Drost, captured the David Spencer Shield, formerly held by First United Church, Victoria, at the night session, while the Glendenning Cup, a beautiful trophy of silver, was awarded Collingwood United Sunday School Orchestra. In adjudicating the latter class J. Peebles Conn made a plea for the cultivation of Sunday school orchestras and expressed pleasure at the splendid performance by winning competitors.

The L. S. Stevens Shield was won by Franklyn School Choir, conducted by Miss H. M. Graham.

St. Mary's Church Vocal Quartette, Kerrisdale, was successful in obtaining the shield presented by Vancouver Druids, with a total of 85 marks to its credit.

CANADIAN PRESS ELECTS OFFICERS

John Scott, Toronto, Named President of Co-operative News Association

Toronto, May 2.—The annual meetings of the board of directors and the members of the Canadian Press, the co-operative news association of the daily papers of Canada, extending over three days, were concluded here yesterday afternoon by the election of officers for the year as follows:

Honorary president, E. Norman Smith, Ottawa Journal; president, John Scott, Toronto Mail and Empire; first vice-president, M. E. Nichols, Winnipeg Tribune; second vice-president, Henri Gagnon, Quebec Le Soleil; general manager and secretary, J. F. B. Livesay.

DIRECTORS ELECTED

With a view to giving increased representation to the French language daily newspapers of Quebec and also to the Western provinces, the annual meeting enlarged the board of directors from fifteen to twenty-one electing directors as follows:

Maritimes (3), W. H. Dennis, Halifax Herald; H. P. Duchemin, Sydney Post; Howard P. Robinson, St. John Telegraph-Journal; Quebec (4), E. J. Archibald, Montreal Star; Henri Gagnon, Quebec Le Soleil; Oswald Mayrand, Montreal La Presse; J. A. McNeil, Montreal Gazette, Ontaria (6), A. R. Alloway, Oshawa Times; A. R. Ford, London Free Press; E. Norman Smith, Ottawa Journal; W. B. Preston, Brantford Expositor; Irving E. Robinson, Toronto Telegram; John Scott, Toronto Mail and Empire; Manitoba and Ontario from Port Arthur West (2), E. H. Macklin, Manitoba Free Press; M. E. Nichols, Winnipeg Tribune; Saskatchewan (2), R. M. Cantlon, Saskatoon Star-Phoenix; Thomas Miller, Moose Jaw Times; Alberta (2), Senator W. A. Buchanan, Lethbridge Herald; J. H. Woods, Calgary Herald; British Columbia (2), F. J. Burd, Vancouver Province; R. J. Cromie, Vancouver Sun.

In order to give representation to Victoria Mr. Burd proferred his resignation to the board of directors, but owing to his long and valued services this was not accepted.

SERVICES APPRECIATED

The new president, Mr. Scott, paid a tribute to the retiring president, Mr. Woods, who during the last four years had so capably directed the affairs of the association, and also to Mr. Macklin, retiring honorary president, whose association with the Co-operative News Association went back twenty-two years to the formation in Winnipeg of the Western Associated Press.

The annual meeting, at which more than half of the entire membership was represented, unanimously approved the principle recommended to it by the board of directors establishing a cost differential contributed by the membership at large in favor of the French language members because of the loss of time and expense they incur translating the news service from English into French.

NEWS EXPANSION

Recommendations of the management for the expansion of the news service, particularly in the direction of an enlarged direct service from London covering the news of Britain and the Empire, were also unanimously adopted. The general manager pointed out the Canadian Press was now successfully reporting direct from an Empire angle important international conferences such as those relating to disarmament at Geneva.

MANY WITNESSES HEARD AT TRIAL

Much Evidence in Alberta on Charge of Murder Against H. Ravinsky

Maple Creek, Sask., May 2.—An alleged identification of the mysterious Jimmy Brown, who Herman Ravinsky, on trial here for the murder of David Katz, clothing salesman of Picton, Ont., declared was the actual slayer, was the chief incident of yesterday's proceedings. It was a woman witness who produced the anti-climax. Pointing to a man in the courtroom whose name was afterwards stated to be J. J. Nessnor and who resides at Medicine Hat, she declared the latter was the individual Ravinsky had introduced to her as "Jimmie Brown."

Ravinsky has repeatedly stated that following the slaying of Katz, this "Jimmie Brown," who the prosecution has contended was a myth, forced him to bury the body in a sand dune north of Gull Lake, Sask.

TRAVELED TOGETHER

J. J. Nessnor, giving evidence, said that in July last year he had traveled around with Ravinsky, who had "footed the bills." They had gone to Edmonton in August and Ravinsky had lived at the home of A. Lyners, father-in-law of the witness. He said that when he started to travel with Ravinsky the latter had introduced him as Brown.

Evidence concerning Ravinsky's perturbation when questioned by Aaron Katz at Hamilton regarding the disappearance of his son, David, and his subsequent actions, caused other tense moments.

Mrs. Annie Pressman of Hamilton, sister of the accused, and Nathan Ravinsky, his brother, also were called to give evidence for the prosecution, and while they testified Herman Ravinsky lost the composure which had cloaked him earlier in the trial and he lowered his head and covered his head with his hands.

Thirty witnesses testified during the day, making a total of fifty-five since the case for the prosecution was opened Tuesday morning.

150 SICILIANS ARE CONVICTED

Nine-month Mafia Trial Comes to End; Peace Now on Island

Termini Imerese, Sicily, May 2.—The great Mafia trial involving 161 defendants ended yesterday in a verdict of guilty for 150 persons with sentences running as high as twenty-three years' imprisonment.

The trial lasted nine months.

The proceedings, it was said, cut the roots from the last feudist groups of this once bloodstained island. Lawyers of the defence, as well as several of the defendants, acknowledged in statements to the court before sentence was passed that the determined action taken by Prefect Mori, on orders from Premier Mussolini, had cleaned up Sicily and given the population a chance to cultivate the fertile island in peace.

The jury was out seven days. It was faced with the task of answering 7,000 questions in making up its verdict.

UNEMPLOYED ASK NEW MEASURES

500 Ukrainians and Hungarians in Saskatchewan Want Work

Saskatoon, May 2—Declaring they had been unable to find employment and were suffering from hunger, more than 500 unemployed men gathered here yesterday and presented a resolution criticizing the Government for bringing men to this country without providing employment for them. The majority of the men were Ukrainians and Hungarians.

They also went on record as being opposed to accepting less than $50 a month for farm work or fifty cents an hour for laboring work.

It was decided to wait until Saturday to see if the labor market would open up and failing that, copies of the resolution will be forwarded to Ottawa and Regina. The resolution, it was stated, will ask for employment or full maintenance for unemployed and their families.

Chief Officer Heard To-day At Vestris Inquiry

London, May 2.—Chief Officer F. W. Johnson of the ill-fated liner Vestris, testifying before the court of inquiry of the British Board of Trade to-day, said the sinking of the vessel in the Atlantic last November was due to not one, but several causes.

"I think I can safely say there were three distinct combinations acting together—the fact that we met bad weather, the fact that the ship was 'tender and the fact that water entered the between-decks and did not find its way below, thus capsizing the ship," Johnson declared.

"In my opinion there was too much topweight on the ship."

DOMINION'S SHIPS ADD MUCH TRADE

3,000,000 feet of lumber at Vancouver, had come through the Panama Canal and discharged its cargo at Churchill. An analysis of the costs showed it was cheaper to transport the lumber in that way than to bring it by rail from Vancouver to Churchill, even if the rails had then been laid to Churchill.

When the port was ready to ship grain there would be means found to carry it, said Mr. Dunning. The situation was unique. Most ports had grown, like Topsy, but this one had been made.

Mr. Stevens said freighters would not go to Churchill to experiment at an insurance rate disadvantageous to Churchill. Perhaps a subsidy might be required to make a fair test.

Mr. Dunning did not agree with this. In chartering ships on a time basis lay the main possibility of getting a fair start on the Hudson Bay route.

Mr. Stevens urged that if the C.G.M.M. ships were put into Hudson Bay irrespective of cost and it were demonstrated the route was a success, other ships would soon come.

Mr. Dunning declared this was worth considering, but he was staggered at the possibility of the insurance rate on small ships.

Of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine's total traffic of $159,000,000 in the year, $112,000,000 was export trade, $39,000,000 was made up of imports, while $7,000,000 represented intercoastal traffic.

Sir Henry Thornton said no doubt one of the difficulties facing the shipping of wheat through Canadian ports was due to the greater number of vessels calling at New York and other large ports.

The outstanding fact was that the steamers had carried $112,000,000 of export trade in package freight and lumber.

The committee adjourned until this afternoon, when it will take up the railways' and shipping estimates.

INJUNCTION ISSUED

Vancouver, May 2.—On the application of H. R. Bray, counsel for Noah Spracklin Mosdell, John Langley Mosdell and Robert Mosdell, of Nanaimo, Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald in Supreme Court has granted an injunction which enjoins Jennie Jardine and directors of Nanaimo Reduction Works Limited, from acting as directors or otherwise at a meeting on May 2, or any time.

The order was made after plaintiffs issued a writ claiming specific performance of an agreement, whereby, allegedly, Jennie Jardine sold to plaintiffs 166 shares of defendant company's capital stock for $20,000.

ISLAND BOARDS ASK GOVERNMENT TO DELAY AWARD

protection of their industries. The Campbell River sites were of such importance to the future of Vancouver Island that they should not be alienated without a full investigation. He cited the experience of Winnipeg as an example of the growth which followed when cheap power was assured to industries.

A. Leighton, Nanaimo, reminded the meeting that at the last convention the Associated Boards had passed a resolution calling upon the Government to form a public utilities commission with power to control the capitalization of hydro-electric companies. Captain R. P. Macdonald, Duncan, said that the requests made by the boards and other public bodies had not been granted. The amendments to the Water Act did not give power to control capitalization. The protection which was given to industries and to the public in every other province in Canada had been deliberately refused by the Government of British Columbia. There was not control of capitalization and no provison that the power sites and all permanent structures should revert to the Crown without compensation at the expiration of the lease as in Ontario, Quebec and other provinces. And there was no attempt to prevent companies from escaping from provincial control by being absorbed by companies which held Dominion charters. Ontario had special legislation on this point, he asserted.

R. W. Mayhew of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, declared people did not realize what the development of Campbell River meant. The question now before the boards of trade was stupendous dealing with the whole future of Vancouver Island. He gave instances of the effects of cheap power in the development and prosperity of the Niagara peninsula. In his opinion if city and municipal councils and the boards of trade and other public bodies would take steps to inform the public and to give opportunities to the applicants to tell the public what they propose to do.

Japanese destroyers escorted the British cruiser Suffolk into the harbor. Soon after the Suffolk had docked Prince Chichibu boarded the ship and greeted the British visitor.

Both young princes were garbed in the military attire of their ranks, the Duke of Gloucester as a captain and Prince Chichibu as a first lieutenant. As the party came ashore the band played "God Save the King" and a Japanese guard of honor presented arms.

Thousands of school children assembled cheered loudly and waved Japanese and British flags.

BOARD LEARNS OF METHODS OF GRAIN HANDLING

Witness filed a statement showing all grain shipments handled here under his supervision and their various grades. Altogether 146 cars of grain had been handled at the Victoria elevator to date, he said. On three cars he had changed the grades already fixed on the Mainland.

Asked whether inspectors were subjected to pressure by elevator operators to alter grain grades, Mr. Denney replied that he had never experienced anything of the kind.

He testified that the quality of the grain shipped out of the Victoria elevator was superior to that which he had sampled in a Vancouver elevator where he had been employed before.

W. H. Walley, weighman at the Victoria elevator, was the next witness.

His records showed that no cars have arrived here with seals broken, and counsel remarked that at all other terminal elevator points officials had testified that seals frequently were broken. About seventeen per cent of the cars received here were in a leaking condition, causing loss of grain, witness testified.

Witness said he not only weighed grain but tested cars for leaks, a job usually performed by another official. There was not enough grain coming to the elevator to keep one man busy without requiring two, he said.

CANADA AND BRITISH TRADE

AN EXAMINATION OF OUR TRADE figures shows that Canada could profitably buy from Great Britain numerous products, running into many millions in value, which she now imports from the United States, if tariff restrictions were removed and certain other disabilities were corrected. It is important that this subject be studied at this time in view of the possibility of a higher United States tariff against Canadian products.

We find, for instance, that the value of fibres and textiles Canada imported from the United States in the year ending with last February was approximately $80,000,000, and from the United Kingdom a little more than $78,000,000. Included in the American figure, of course, is an item for raw cotton, which accounts for approximately $27,000,000 of the imports under this heading. Britain could not furnish us with this commodity. On the whole, however, British exporters of fibres and textiles have a potential market for their wares in this Dominion of something like $128,000,000 — an increase of $50,000,000.

Another interesting item is iron—and its products. In the year ending February our imports from the United States under this heading reached $309,000,000, whereas similar imports from the United Kingdom amounted to less than $20,000,000 in value. Iron ore, pigs, ingots, and so on, account for just a little less than $6,000,000 in the United States list. There would appear to be left, however, a potential market for British products under this head of $250,000,000, compared with the present export of $20,000,000.

The principal items under this heading of iron and its products are worth noting. They are: Rolling mill products, $48,000,000; engines and boilers, $17,500,000; farm implements, $40,000,000; machinery, $53,500,000, and vehicles, in which are included the various kinds of automobiles and automobile parts, $97,500,000. We probably would continue to import automobiles and parts from the United States, but even if we did, there would remain a market of $175,000,000 for British iron products.

The United Kingdom's figures for exports to Canada of the items we have set out above are as follows: Rolling mill products, $6,400,000; engines and boilers, $1,039,742; farm implements, $142,000; machinery, $3,950,000; vehicles, autos and parts, $761,289. It is to be noted in these figures that there was an increase in the twelve months under review over the business of the preceding year in the case of rolling mill products, engines and boilers, while, although we have not compared them here, there also was an increase in value in regard to wire, hardware and cutlery, tools and vehicles. Machinery and farm implements, however, showed a decline.

It would appear that there is a chance for the British exporter to capture more of the chemical products trade. We send $25,000,000 to the United States for commodities coming in this category and only $5,000,000 to the United Kingdom. In the matter of hard coal, incidentally, our importations from the United States were valued at $21,000,000 last year, compared with purchases from Great Britain amounting to $3,700,000.

On this question of British hard coal for Canada, Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas told the House of Commons recently that 400,000 homes in Eastern Canada would be glad to get the product of the Welsh mines—anthracite—if it were made available to them through a better sales organization. It also is believed that, if shipping charges were favorable, Welsh coal could be made considerably to displace the Pennsylvania product. To understand better what this would mean to Britain it is only necessary to bear in mind that if the 3,000,000 tons of anthracite which this Dominion imported from the United States in 1928 had been brought from Old Country mines, it would have meant good wages for about 15,000 British miners.

It is superfluous to suggest that there are certain factors to be met before any very large volume of Canadian imports from the United States could be displaced by similar imports from the United Kingdom. First and foremost, of course, would be the tariff at present imposed on British goods entering this country. True, there are substantial concessions under the British Preference; but unless all the commodities involved entered practically free of duty, there might not be a sufficient margin of advantage to make up for the cost of transportation.

Another factor is that of adaptability. The British manufacturer—and it has been a matter of spirited comment in recent years in circles desirous of wider British markets for British goods—has appeared slow to adapt his wares to the exact requirements of new customers. This is particularly marked in Canada, where our standards in so many respects are similar to those in the United States. In those cases where they may not be, and are required to be, the industrialist in the neighboring republic loses no time in making the necessary changes. This is not new to Britain; but while up Britain's advocates have been pounding away at the theme for some time.

This question of more inter-Empire trade, however, is one for serious examination by competent authorities in the various Dominions and in Great Britain. We refuse to believe that, with adequate marketing facilities, reasonable shipping rates, and the removal of most of the existing artificial barriers to trade, our present purchases from Great Britain could not be vastly increased in a very short time and our imports from the United States proportionately decreased. Which would mean, of course, that we also would be selling more to the United Kingdom.

WOMEN AND POLITICS

IT MIGHT HAVE BEEN SUPPOSED that with the addition of five million female voters to Britain's electoral roll there would have been more candidates at the general elections than there will be. Present indications are that no more than eighty will enter the lists. Fifty of these will carry the Labor standard, twenty-two that of the Conservatives and eight that of the Liberals. It is anticipated, however, that some of these will drop out before nomination day.

It is pointed out that this comparatively small number of women candidates is not because there are so few who might be considered capable. It is simply because, in the main, committees in the constituencies have declined to consider women as candidates, and the women members of those committees have been more hostile towards their own sex than the men.

There is a different tale, however, in regard to women as political workers. Whether as speakers, organizers or canvassers, they are in great demand throughout the country. All three parties have devoted special departments to the training of women workers, and the political agents report that they are generally keener and, as canvassers, more reliable than men. Is this new confirmation of the fact that when men want anything done, they get the women to do it for them?

EVERYTHING IS LOVELY NOW

FROM MONTREAL COMES A DISPATCH telling us that Premier Tolmie is in that city on holiday and also for the purpose of doing a little business for British Columbia. He is reported as having said that conditions in this province are "very good and the outlook for the future excellent."

We need not treat the Doctor's statement about conditions in British Columbia as news. Conditions have been excellent for two or three years, and he found them better than they had been for a long time when he took office last Summer. But neither he nor any of his supporters who were candidates in the general election found the words to say so. They went about British Columbia telling the people that things were bad, very bad indeed; the MacLean Government had frightened capital away by its legislation; the young men and the young women of the province were leaving for the United States in droves. In fact, it was a melancholy picture which the Conservative leader then painted.

But it is all different now. Everything in the garden is lovely. They are in office and the Liberals are out. Their drab picture has been thrown on to the dust heap. It now languishes with those which The Montreal Gazette and The Montreal Star painted three years ago, of what would happen to the country if the King Government got in again.

FOLLY IN THE AIR

EARLY REPORTS OF THE AEROPLANE accident at San Diego, Calif., where six people lost their lives when an army aeroplane collided with a big passenger plane, indicate that aviation occasionally has a character not unlike the gentleman who rocks the boat on the water.

If the early reports are correct, the accident occurred after an army flier, diving close to the passenger plane in an effort to show his skill and give the passengers a thrill, misjudged his distance and crashed into it.

Army fliers, of course, are trained to go through risky manoeuvres. It is all part of the day's work to them. But there is little excuse for an affair like this at San Diego. If a flier wants to show off his stunts, let him do it by himself.

MAKING CHESS HARDER

DEVOTEES OF THE GAME OF CHESS will be highly interested in Jose Capablanca's recently-presented suggestion for widening the scope of the game.

Capablanca, who has claimed for years that chess needs revision because the experts have solved all its possible combinations, has suggested and demonstrated some changes. He has enlarged the size of the board, so that it contains 100 squares instead of sixty-four. Each side gets four new pieces; two new pawns and two opposite pieces, one of which combines the powers of the rook and the knight, while the other combines the powers of the bishop and the knight.

Chess lovers will doubtless be eager to see how this new game works out. For the ordinary man chess still contains unnumbered riddles. It may be, however, that the masters' tournaments will contain fewer monotonous draws if Capablanca's suggestions are adopted.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

FARM RELIEF

The Farmer's Sun (Toronto)

The forthcoming extra session of the United States Congress, called by President Hoover to consider the question of farm relief, will have a special interest for Canadian farmers. With the vetoed McNary-Haugen legislation discredited, there is evidence of a growing disposition to look to an upward revision of the tariff on farm products as a means of providing relief. Past experience, however, points to the futility of looking to tariff protection as a means of promoting agricultural prosperity.

BRITAIN'S $100,000,000 SURPLUS

The Ottawa Journal

An ever-recurring miracle is the resiliency of John Bull. Just when that estimable old gentleman appears in the "fell clutch of circumstance," on the ropes, about to collapse, and a whole lot of other things, he bounds forward with some striking manifestation of sustaining vigor. Illustrative of this is the announcement that Chancellor of the Exchequer Churchill is closing his year with something like a $100,000,000 surplus. With trade depressed, unemployment rife, and everything said to be going to the demnition bow-wows, nothing of the sort was expected. A surplus of $35,000,000 was the most that even the optimists hoped for. The truth is that conditions in Britain are decidedly better. The coal industry, of course, is still depressed, but most of the metal, motor car and other manufacturing industries are exceptionally prosperous, while on the Clyde and the Tees shipbuilding is increasingly active.

A THOUGHT

The thing that hath been, it is that which shall be; and that which is done is that which shall be done: and there is no new thing under the sun.—Eccl. 1 9.

Believe, if thou wilt, that mountains change their places, but believe not that man changes his nature.—Mohammed.

Loose Ends

The Unhappy Earl of Egmont, who can't make things out—The Dangers of too much domesticity—the Perils of the Bathtub—and the plight of us, the Sporting Fishermen of Shawnigan Lake.

By H. B. W.

THE SADDEST figure of our times is the Earl of Egmont. You will recall that this gentleman came into his title after living thirty years on one of those bleak prairie ranches which make you shiver as you go by them on the C.P.R. in the Winter. The Earl of Egmont is now at his family seat at Ringwood, Hampshire, and is wondering what it is all about. "I have been here three weeks but so far I cannot make anyone out," said he pathetically to The Daily Mail, which paper further records that the Earl spends most of his time sitting alone—brooding and trying to make things out. "I am used to hard work,' said the Earl, "now I have nothing to do but hang around." He also complains of the cold, after the zero temperature of the prairies. And the young Viscount Perceval has created a scandal in the neighborhood by insisting on playing with the boys of the village instead of confining himself to the estate, the Viscount Perceval evidently being a real Canadian.

* * *

A FEW statesmen at Ottawa, but very few, would restore titles in Canada. The pitiable figure of the rancher Earl of Egmont, brooding alone in his castle, trying to make things out, and finding nothing to do but hang around, ought to convince these advocates of nobility that such things simply won't work with people bred in this country. If the Earl of Egmont is as hard-headed as thirty years on the prairie should have made him, he will come back to his ranch and be happy, where there is plenty to do, no trouble in making things out, and thanks to a wise Parliament, no danger of having a title conferred on you.

* * *

THE COLUMN to my left rejoiced the other day over the latest statistics of the Travelers' Insurance Company. From these it drew the comforting conclusion that the men of this hectic age actually are staying at home more and more all the time. For, it is said, out of every 100 men accidently hurt last year twenty-seven were injured in their own homes, while in the last ten years the average of home injuries was only twenty-four. To be injured at home a man must be at home, it was argued. Hence the figures showed that the home is winning out in competition with the movies, the automobile and the night club.

* * *

THIS IS probably true, but there is another and far more obvious conclusion to be drawn from these figures—the modern home is getting more dangerous all the time, which is hardly news. On these figures, indeed, it is not going too far to say that if a man wants to avoid injury he ought to stay out at night as late and as often as possible. If the Travelers' Insurance Company's figures this year show another gain in fireside accidents the next thing will be a Stay-Out-at-Night movement with a national Husband's Safety Week during which no man will go home at all in a supreme attempt to increase our span of life. The next generation will be boasting that it is a healthy race because no one is ever injured at home. By the same process of logic noted above it will be possible to reason then that home life has reached perfection, for there will be no one at home to spoil it.

* * *

A DISPATCH from Washington, D.C., to The New York Times, confirms my theory. It says that General W. C. Neville, commandant of the Marine Corps, who has served in four wars without being wounded, is in the Naval Hospital with a broken rib suffered when he slipped and fell in a bathtub in his apartment. From this, by the same logic quoted before, you can prove that perfect health can only be secured by staying out of bathtubs as well as out of homes.

* * *

THIS VERY conclusion, indeed, is advanced in no less a quarter than the columns of The New York World. It is declared there, and supported with elaborate reasoning, that the present craze for complicated bathing and gorgeous bathrooms is a grave sign of national decay. "When some future Gibbon writes a work on 'The Decline and Fall of the United States'," says this authority, "he will start with the year when the first peach-tinted bathtub began the sapping of our national vitality."

* * *

PERHAPS. BUT before the last atom of vitality has departed, the United States may get over its decadent bathing habits, and the modern rainbow-tinted bathroom may disappear, for in history there is clear evidence that bathing of all kinds goes in cycles. Thus the Romans raised bathing to almost a religious rite and about the same time collapsed before the inroads of the unwashed barbarians. Around the time of the Norman Conquest of England ablutions at the highest endurable temperature came into fashion again and the Germans of this period, it is recorded, were so enthusiastic over this form of amusement that they used to inscribe bathtubs and bathing girls even on the borders of their illuminated Bibles.

* * *

THEN BATHING declined again and in a medical book published in 1803 we find this excellent advice: "The best time of the year for bathing is in the middle of April or beginning of May. A day or two previous to the bath (to prepare for this trying ordeal) one should take a dose of topic powders." It is all very well to smile, but it is significant that just after that Britain beat Napoleon and Canada hurled back the invading armies of the United States. There were no signs of decadence in our race then.

* * *

NOW THAT the new game conservation system, of which the Government expects notable wonders, has gone into effect, it might give consideration to a bitter grievance with us, the sporting fishermen of Shawnigan Lake. Shawnigan Lake, it is related by oldtimers, used to teem with trout until some misguided person placed catfish in it. (If we sporting fishermen of Shawnigan Lake could find this gentleman, whoever he is, we should know what to do with him). After which the catfish increased and the trout waned.

* * *

IT IS NOT likely that the new game system can do anything about the catfish but it ought to do something about the other enemy of the trout—the cowardly, crafty calculating creatures who groundbait them by depositing a beef's head or other food in the water, and then pull them up by the dozen. There are no trout left for us sporting fishermen who resolutely go forth only with a spoon and worm, which the sporting fishermen of other favored lakes, of course, would despise. The other lakes needn't be snooty about it, though. We have a fly fisherman, too, and he caught a fish in the Spring of 1925. The shock almost killed him. (Please address all protests against this statement together with accurate description of fish caught by fly, other than catfish, care of this column, which won't believe any of them).

"I'M ALONE"

To the Editor:—In answer to Mr. Cogswell of St. Petersburg, Fla.

One thing Mr. Cogswell is not lacking in, and that is nerve.

I would like to know who gave him the right to criticize the Premier of British Columbia.

Allow me to point out that Canada bred the men who took Vimy Ridge and those men are not in the habit of running to the tall timbers for anything or anybody.

If the United States coastguard insists on putting half-baked kids behind the coastguard guns, well, it must be held to account for the damage they may do. I am referring to the I'm Alone and also to the Norwegian steamer that was shelled in New York, and I believe there were more.

Mr. Cogswell accuses Capt. Randall of piracy. I would suggest that it is the United States coastguard that is guilty of piracy and murder with it.

LORDS DEBATE WORLD COURT

Compulsory Jurisdiction Discussed By British Second Chamber

London, May 2 — A motion by Viscount Cecil inviting the House of Lords to express the opinion that the time had arrived when Great Britain should sign the optional clause of the statutes of the World Court was rejected by twenty-six to nineteen, after a debate in the House last evening.

By the clause the states recognize the compulsory jurisdiction of the court, namely, the right of one party to summon another before the court.

TIME DECLARED INOPPORTUNE

Lord Hailsham, Lord Chancellor, expressed the Government's inability to accept the motion. It was hoped the time would arrive when it would be possible for the British Empire to accept the compulsory jurisdiction of the International Court with or without a reservation designed to protect the special position of the Empire, he said. The present moment, however, in the dying days of the old Parliament and in face of resolutions of the Imperial Conference of 1926 and the urgency of the problem of the United States arbitration with Great Britain could not be considered a proper time, he said.

Lord Cecil was supported by Lord Parmoor and Lord Reading.

POSITION OF CANADA

Premier King of Canada was mentioned in the debate when he was quoted by Viscount Cecil as having made it abundantly clear Canada desired to sign the optional clause immediately. Viscount Cecil further quoted from The Toronto Daily Star that the Canadian Prime Minister had revealed the truth that Canada and all the self-governing Dominions except Australia were ready for Britain to sign the optional clause.

Lord Hailsham indicated he doubted the accuracy of that statement.

It was generally agreed the clause ought to be eventually signed, Viscount Cecil said, and the only question was as to when. As to arguments that Britain must consider the attitude of the Dominions, he thought Britain ought to take the responsibility of ratifying whatever course it thought was right.

If the Dominions disagreed it should be stated openly, so everybody might know exactly who was for and who was against, he declared. It could not be contended now that the attitude of the Dominion constituted any difficulty. So far as Canada was concerned the question was beyond any possibility of doubt.

Machine Gun Men To Hold Conference

A huge reunion of Machine Gun officers is to be held in Toronto from May 30 to 31. The reunion will be one of the most complete and ambitious affairs of its type ever attempted in Canada.

Invitations have been sent out to every Canadian Machine Gun officer of the Canadian Corps overseas, Machine Gun officers of Imperial units now residing in Canada, and every officer now attached to Machine Gun Militia units.

Every province in Canada will be amply represented, and acceptances have been received from Great Britain, France and the United States.

A total of about 393,000 Americans now reside abroad permanently or semi-permanently.

ONE BOX ENDED HIS SUFFERINGS

Serious Bowel Condition Relieved by "Fruit-a-tives"

MR. PAGE

Mr. James Page of Cabano, P.Q., was in a very dangerous condition. The Constipation from which he had suffered for five years was undermining his whole system. It was not only ruining his digestion and poisoning his blood, but had also brought on painful piles. Various treatments failed to help him until he tried "Fruit-a-tives," made of intensified fruit juices combined with scientific medicinal ingredients. "One box of this wonderful medicine," he writes, "gave me complete relief. 'Fruit-a-tives' give results as nothing else does, and I sincerely recommend it to every sufferer." Try this great medicine. 25c and 50c a box —at dealers everywhere. (Advt.)

Strawberry Vale

The Young People's Club of the Wilkinson Road United Church held an open meeting in the church on Monday evening, when Ira Dilworth, principal of Victoria High School, gave an interesting lecture on "Choosing a Vocation."

Mr. Dilworth advised all young people to take into consideration two factors, their own talent and the conditions of their environment.

He discussed the great mystery of life, told how scientists in laboratories had failed to give life to carefully prepared substances, and how philosophers had failed in attempts to explain this mystery.

Mr. Dilworth then discussed four attitudes to life, the miserly, the hermit attitude, that of the cynic and the attitude of one placed on earth to serve.

Musical numbers were rendered by Miss Margaret Pringle, pianiste, and Mr. McDonough, violinist. Willard Ireland acted as chairman.

Keating

The service at the South Saanich United Church on Sunday morning at 11 o'clock will take the form of a flower service. Members of the congregation are requested to bring flowers, which will later be sent to the hospitals of Victoria.

The Young People's Club will meet in the church parlor on Monday evening for their bi-monthly meeting. The literary committee will be in charge of the programme for the evening.

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

BY SIR ROBERT BADEN-POWELL

How did I begin scouting?

Well, it was this way—only don't for goodness' sake tell your schoolmasters.

I really began it half out of bounds at school.

Our playing fields were on the plateau top of a hill, the steep sides of which were clothed with a regular jungle of brushwood and copse.

And there I used to snuggle away and set snares for rabbits. If, and when I caught one—which was not always—I skinned him, cooked him, ate him—and lived!

But in doing this I learnt to creep silently, to know my way by landmarks, to note tracks and read their meaning, to use dry, dead wood off trees and not off the ground for my fire; to make a tiny non-smoky fire, such as would not give me away to trying masters; and if these came along I had a sod ready to extinguish the fire and hide the spot, while I shinned up some neighboring ivy-clad tree where I could nestle, unobserved, above the line of sight of the average searcher.

You, who have learnt Greek, know that in that language a man is called anthropos, or the animal that can look upwards. When you have scouted a bit you very soon realize that though he can look upwards, a man seldom does so, and that if you lie along a branch, or along the top of a wall, or stand up against the trunk of the tree and don't move, the chances are you will not be observed.

LOOK UPWARDS

As a scout, of course, you look upwards just as much as downwards or afar and, especially, behind you. I could tell you a yarn about this; but no; if once I begin I should wander off the line altogether. My job is to tell you how scouting, that is, Boy Scout work, commenced.

Well, I got these early notions of creeping about in the woods, observing "sign," and reading its meaning, when I was at school.

Later on, when I got into the army, I found its value.

How I tracked and recovered a valuable horse that had strayed; how I got fame for my squadron at manoeuvres by creeping through the enemy's outposts at night; how I made maps of of the tracks and 'sign" which gave the complete story of the battle at Maiwand; how I found a short cut for our force.

ART OF SCOUTING

These and other small but important acts were steps which finally brought me to teach young soldiers in my regiment the art of scouting as a preparation for their work on service.

To those men who qualified and proved themselves good at the work I gave a little badge to wear on their arm. It was a fleur-de-lis or arrow head as given on the compass card, or on a map to show the north point.

After a time the War Office approved it as the badge of the trained scout for all branches of the service.

But, besides teaching men how to look out for an enemy, scouting taught them many other things. To be any good at it, a man must be able to find his way by night as well as by day across strange country with possibly only the stars to guide him; he had to be able to cook his own grub, to swim rivers, to hide successfully; in other words he had to learn pluck and nerve, self-reliance, handiness, endurance and self-sacrifice from a sense of duty and service for his country.

DISCIPLINE

So, by learning scouting, you see, these young recruits became real men and good soldiers. And what was more, they enjoyed their soldiering instead of becoming bored by the discipline and routine.

Later on I was invited to inspect the Boys' Brigade at Glasgow and I felt that, though their numbers were fairly large, if their work really interested them, they should be still larger.

So I told Sir William Smith, their founder and commandant, how popular scouting was with young soldiers in the army and that possibly some adaptation of it might be helpful for his boys.

He suggested that I should myself adapt it for boys.

So I set out to change what was an art for men for making war, into an art for boys for making peace. A bit of a change round, wasn't it? But it seemed to promise all right when I tackled it and in its new form scouting has nothing whatever to do with soldiering.

FIRST TROOP

Then I got together a troop of twenty-four boys of all sorts which came into camp with me to try out the experiment. Among them were "dukes' sons, cooks' sons, and sons of belted earls," and they got on splendidly together in our camp on Brownsea Island in Dorsetshire. That was in September, 1907. At the camp we practiced as much as we could of the work of frontiersmen; that is, of the work of explorers, backwoodsmen, hunters, trackers and others generally known under the term "scouts."

In January, 1908, I brought out the book, "Scouting for Boys," in fortnightly parts, and before many parts had appeared troops of scouts began to spring up in different parts of the country—many, if not most of them, started by the boys themselves.

In a very short while we found not merely hundreds but thousands of boys bitten with the scouting fever, so much so that two years later we called a rally at the Crystal Palace, and taking count of the boys as they marched past, we found that 11,000 had turned up—by far the biggest assemblage of boys that had so far been held in England.

And so it has gone on, growing bigger and bigger, and the boys becoming more and more efficient every year.

2,000,000 BOY SCOUTS

Other countries followed suit and started their scouts on exactly the same lines and with the same ideals as ours, till to-day there is scarcely a civilized country without its scouts.

Now there are nearly 2,000,000 boy scouts about the world.

They are not merely an organized society; they are more than this — they are a great friendly brotherhood, to make themselves through their scout training into happy, healthy, helpful citizens of their country, friendly towards all others.

So any fellow who joins this jolly fraternity knows that in doing so he is not only going to have a good time and enjoy the fun of camping and life out-of-doors in good comradeship, but also that he is doing his bit in helping other people, and in serving his king and country in the cause of peace and goodwill.

Senators of U.S. Discuss Wheat Pool of Canada

Washington, May 2.—Running through much of the discussion of the farm relief bill in the Senate are references to the Canadian Wheat Pool and its workings as explained recently before the Senate committee on agriculture by A. J. McPhail of Regina, head of the pool. It is frequently pointed out in the debate that the stabilization corporations under the pending farm relief bill are expected to function much as the great co-operative pool of Canada functions.

Senator Norbeck of South Dakota, prominent member of the Senate committee on agriculture, paid high tribute in a speech yesterday to Mr. McPhail. Senator Norbeck said Mr. McPhail was sincere and careful in his statements. He emphasized, however, that the Canadian pool had not brought Canadian wheat farmers a very large increase in prices.

Senator Norbeck, in summing up, said Mr. McPhail had stated frankly that the big result of the Canadian pool was the better spirit of co-operation that had been developed among the farmers. He did not count the small additional price they had secured as the most prominent reward

MRS. M. E. SMITH WILL LEAVE FOR GENEVA SUNDAY

Former M.P.P. Invited to Address Suffrage Meeting in Berlin; Other Invitations

Vancouver, May 2.—Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith has been invited to speak at various gatherings during her absence from Vancouver, beginning next Sunday, when she leaves for Geneva to represent the Dominion Government at the International Social Welfare Conference of the League of Nations, beginning June 1.

On May 15 at Ottawa she will speak on social health at the annual meeting of the Social Hygiene Council of Canada. His Excellency the Governor-General, is to preside, and other speakers will include specialists from the various universities and clinics.

TO SPEAK IN BERLIN

After the Geneva Conference Mrs. Smith will proceed to Berlin, where she has been asked to address the International Suffrage Alliance convention. The International Suffrage Alliance has been kept alive to press for the complete enfranchisement of women in countries where the programme has not been fulfilled and also to give the lead in some of the objectives which the women had in mind in seeking the suffrage. Mrs. Smith regards the invitation to address this great gathering as one of the highest honors she has ever received, in view of the great distance at which she was sought out for the purpose.

Mrs. Smith closes to-day the apartment in which she has lived for fifteen years on Point Grey Road and until her departure will stay at an apartment hotel. Her friends are planning to give her a send-off from the C.N.R. depot Sunday evening.

PRINTERS' DANCE A BIG SUCCESS

J. H. Richardson Winner of Chevrolet "Six" Sedan Last Night

Over a thousand guests danced with evident enjoyment at the very successful dance held at the Empress Hotel last evening under the auspices of the Victoria Typographical Union No. 201. Both the ballroom and writing-room were necessary to accommodate the large number of guests, who danced to the strains of the excellent music of Ozard's seven-piece orchestra.

The committee in charge of the affair comprised T. A. Burgess, J. D. Davidson, Mrs. Chislett, F. Neelands, V. Baines, J. R. Hibberson, Mrs. W. Ozard, A. W. Stokes, James Petrie, E. Reif, J. R. Begg, W. Clunk, H. Curtis and J. P. Watson.

The interesting feature of the evening was the drawing for the Chevrolet "six" sedan, which was won by J. H. Richardson, 87 Cambridge Street. The ticket was drawn by Irene Le Noury.

WOMAN ARTIST'S STUDY REJECTED

Royal Academy Refuses Mrs. Dod-Proctor's Picture of Nude Girl

London, May 2—A mild sensation has been created in London art circles by the Royal Academy's rejection of a picture by Mrs. Dod-Proctor, prominent artist, entitled "Virginal"—a full-length nude figure holding a bird. No reason for the rejection has been given out.

Mrs. Proctor has been a frequent academy exhibitor and some of her other works were accepted for exhibition this year. She said to-day she had given instructions that the picture be hung for a week in one of London's leading galleries, where the public will have an opportunity to judge of its merits or demerits.

Gov.-General Opens A New Red Cross Hospital in East

Kakabeka Falls, Ont., May 2. — As guests of the Canadian Club of Fort William, the Governor-General and Lady Willingdon visited Kakabeka Fall yesterday to officiate at the opening of the new Red Cross Hospital. After the dedication of the flag, the vice-regal party inspected the Red Cross car operated by the Canadian National Railways between here and Sioux Lookout. Lord and Lady Willingdon discussed the work of the car with Miss G. Reid, nurse in charge, and commented on the splendid service it was giving in the outlying communities.

Their Excellencies visited also the school car operated by the Ontario Government with the co-operation of the Canadian National Railways. They were welcomed by Mr. and Mrs. J. Flemming, who are in charge of the traveling school, and saw a class in session. The Governor-General asked the children many questions about their studies, and was much impressed by the ingenious method of bringing school to children in the more unsettled districts. The party afterwards visited the Falls, which looked their best in the May sunshine.

Sick Woman Is Rushed on Plane

Seattle, May 2—Ending a 1,000-mile race against death, the aeroplane Juneau landed here at 7.40 o'clock last night with Mrs. Peter Kostrometinoff of Sitka, Alaska. A waiting ambulance rushed her to a hospital. She was in a critical condition from septic poisoning.

The woman was brought from Sitka when physicians said she had no chance of living unless afforded expert treatment and hospital facilities such as were unobtainable in Alaska.

Answering an urgent cable from the woman's husband, Pilot Ansel Eckmann of Seattle left Juneau at 4.40 yesterday morning for Sitka, Alaska, while arrangements had been made by cable for an emergency operation in Seattle. Kostrometinoff was waiting with his wife on a stretcher when the plane landed at Sitka. The woman's condition made it impossible to fly at a high altitude, so Eckmann was forced to follow the longer land route south.

DRIVE AGAINST LAX PARENTS

Chicago Starts Campaign Following Schoolboy's Death After Drinking Party

Chicago, Ill., May 2.—Indulgent and indifferent parents, blamed for the vagaries of modern youth, have been warned that fines and jail are the lot of those who let loose the bridles of their children.

A coroner's jury investigating the death of a high school boy in a motor accident after a drinking party heard that fifty-six parents have been arrested in routine investigations, and twenty-three have paid fines aggregating $578 within two weeks for indulging their truant school children. A mother and a father were sent to the jail upon their refusal to pay fines.

Determined to tighten the reins on parents and youngsters, William L. Bodine, superintendent of compulsory education, ordered a round-up of lax parents and sent his staff of 124 truant officers to ferret out the speakeasies in school neighborhoods.

"Neglect of parental duty," he said, "is to blame for seventy-five per cent of juvenile delinquency.

MOONSHINE BLAMED

"Conditions among youth of the nation were never so deplorable as they are to-day. In spite of the defenders of the habits of modern youth that often begins its follies in the 'teens. Moonshine, obtainable easily in speakeasies, contributes largely to juvenile delinquency.

"The school and the church should have the vigilant co-operation of the home if the character building and moral guidance of minors is to be successful.

"This drive against indifferent parents will be continued until the situation is cleaned up."

Hohenzollern Now In California

Los Angeles, May 2.—Romance and a business career have led ex-Prince Louis Ferdinand, second son of the former Crown Prince of Germany, to establish his residence here.

He has been taking flying lessons and stated yesterday he probably would become associated with the aviation department of the Ford Motor Company. He had conferred with Henry Ford recently in Detroit.

The other attraction here for Ferdinand is Lily Damita, motion picture actress, he said. Miss Damita disclosed that they had met and fallen in love in Germany two years ago. She told him she would not give up her career for marriage, she added, but suggested that if their love endured she might eventually change her mind.

Ferdinand Hohenzollern expressed pride in the fact that he had won the degree of doctor of philosophy at the University of Berlin, where he was graduated just two months ago.

It was the first time, he said, that a member of the Hohenzollern family had been granted a degree as the result of study.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

FLIES STILL A MENACE TO BABY'S HEALTH IN SUMMER

The fly season begins early. The weather warms up and we notice a fly buzzing about. That is the time to put in the screens before the fly brings all his relations to make your home his camping ground for the Summer.

People get used to flies. They get used to seeing them crawl all over the food on the tables, the baby's face, the refuse in the kitchen. It is the fact that we get used to flies, so that they seem more of a discomfort than a health menace, that is the real danger. Where there are children the danger is exaggerated. Flies are well-known carriers of filth. They are in no way particular where they drop this filth, and food which has been contaminated by them is both unfit from an esthetic standpoint to be put into anyone's mouth and a frequent cause of disastrous illnesses to the baby and small child.

We should feel horror when we see a fly walking on baby's face or hands, not only because the baby is made so miserably uncomfortable by it but because of the dirt and germs which cling to the fly and are dropped wherever he alights.

IT'S AN OLD STORY

I am conscious as I write of how many, many times this has been said. And yet we still have flies, they are still dirty flies, and in some neighborhoods they make life almost a torture to small babies. Evidently one must keep on saying this until homes at least are kept free from flies with the same thoroughness with which we battle dirt in any form.

If one can't afford screens, one can always manage cotton netting tacked on securely. All of the known methods of keeping an interior free from flies should be applied vigorously every day in the Summer. Food must always be kept covered. Baby's crib or buggy should have its own netting which is slipped over it during nap period.

DARKEN HOUSE ONCE A DAY

If the house is darkened once a day and all the blinds drawn down tightly the flies will flock to any open bright spot. If this bright spot is the door, the screen can be opened and the flies shooed out. Then the depleted army can be more easily extinguished.

The odor of food draws flies so that the kitchen needs screens without a tear. Garbage draws flies so that garbage should be wrapped in paper or covered securely when put into pails.

Soiled diapers should be kept in covered pails until ready to wash.

Simple, trite warnings these. The careful housewife knows them all; she does them because she hates a fly even if she knows nothing of his menace to her baby's good health. It is the mother who believes that flies are an evil which are an unavoidable part of Summer, and who makes only feeble efforts to get rid of them, who should heed these warnings.

Solarium Doing Better Work Than In England

Dr. C. Wace, After Visiting Old Country Institutions, Says Mill Bay Getting Better Results in Children's Condition.

Dr. C. Wace of the Queen Alexandra Solarium who left for England a few weeks ago, has been making a series of visits to institutions in the Old Country devoted to the treatment of crippled and delicate children, for the purpose of comparing the results with those obtained at the Solarium. He has written a summary of his observations, which are reproduced below:

ALTON HOSPITAL

"I arrived at Sir William Treloar's Crippled Children's Hospital on the evening of April 2 and returned to London on April 11. On Sunday the 7th I went to the seaside branch of Hayling Island, and on the 11th I visited, with Sir Henry Gauvain and Mr. Fairbanks of London, the Portsmouth clinic in Portsmouth.

"The Alton Hospital was built during the South African War by the 'Absent-Minded Beggars Fund,' started by The Daily Mail, and after the war was taken over by Sir William Treloar in 1908, and opened as a Crippled Children's Hospital with twenty children.

"Since 1908 4,573 children have been admitted, and 93.8 per cent 'have completed their treatment with arrest of their disease.' The average length of stay in the hospital has been 404.8 days for each case; 490 crippled boys have received three years' training in skilled handicrafts in the college, which is part of the hospital. Children of either sex are admitted from any part of the world, up to the age of twelve, suffering from tuberculous disease of joints and bones, and a limited number of general orthopoedic cases. Crippled boys, not necessarily old patients, are given a three years' training in skilled handicrafts.

MAINTAINED BY GRANTS

"The general expenses of the hospital are largely, if not entirely, covered by grants from the Department of Education, Boards of Guardians, County Council grants, etc.

"The hospital consists of two blocks of wards, radiating like the spokes of a wheel, from central administration buildings; they are wooden buildings on brick foundations. Many new buildings have been erected since 1908, e.g., nurses' quarters, isolation block, trustees' house. These are brick built.

"The expense of maintaining these wooden buildings has been found to be so great that they will shortly be removed and permanent buildings erected. The wards are light and airy with windows on both sides, and well warmed. The beds are moved out on to the areas between adjacent wards, which gives some protection from winds. The hospital is situated on the southern slope of a hill; there are playgrounds, tennis courts for the staff and a large vegetable garden.

BETTER RESULTS AT SOLARIUM

"In the hospital and Hayling Island branch 355 beds have been occupied during the year. The condition of the children is excellent, both at Alton and Hayling, but I am confident we are obtaining equally good—if not better—results in the 'general condition' of the children at the Queen Alexandra Solarium. The whole spirit of the work is markedly conservative in the treatment of the children. I refer more especially to the cases of tuberculosis. Sir Henry's great experience and ingenuity has enabled the most difficult cases of deformity following tubercular infection to be treated successfully with nothing more than very minor operations, not even requiring an anaesthetic. The splints and appliances are largely his own invention.

"I am glad to be able to say that the celluloid jackets and splints made at the Queen Alexandra Solorium compare most favorably with the Alton work.

LIGHT TREATMENT

"The light department is a very specialized one and practically every variety of lamp is used—carbon-arc, mercury vapor, Tungsten, Finsen-Reyn and varieties of these, e.g. iron-arc, infra red, radiant heat. There are many cases of lupus (T.B. disease of the skin) under treatment, and the results are extraordinarily good. Sir Henry has no doubt whatever as to the value of artificial sunlight.

"During 1927-8, 17,580¼ hours' treatment were given to the children by general light baths, and 4,466¼ hours' treatment were given with the Finsen-Reyn lamps. A splint shop is kept constantly busy, and any form of appliance can be supplied in a few hours.

PLASTIC SURGERY

"The surgical work is done by a visiting staff from London; the plastic work (i.e. making new noses, etc.), in cases where lupus has been extensive, is very remarkable, and is in the hands of H. D. Gillies, C.B.E., F.R.C.S., of London.

"The home at Hayling Island consists of a converted private house for the staff, and a long open-air ward and veranda on the hedge of the beach. Hayling Island is becoming much built on, but there are no houses near the hospital. There is a constant interchange of patients between Alton and Hayling. The situation is not, I consider, as good as the Queen Alexandra Solarium, and they have much more wind. The children are very bright and happy, and in first class condition. The pavilion for the children is not as commodious or light as the Solarium, and the play-room is small.

VOCATIONAL TRAINING

"There are tailor, bootmaking and case and bag-making shops at Alton; fifty boys are in training now; 490 boys have been trained in the last twenty-one years. No boy who, after trial has been accepted for training, has so far failed to pass into employment, and I am informed that requests for Alton apprentices are constantly received from high class shops in London and elsewhere. Education is continued while the boys are in training. Parents or guarantors must provide £26 a year for each lad. I am told that outside sales pay for material and wages of instructors. The boys live in large dormitories close to the workshops and the discipline is good, under the control of an ex-sergeant-major of the R.A.M.C."

Pandemonium Breaks Loose As Adanacs Win Canadian Title

Thousands of Fans Rush to Floor When New Westminster Basketball Team Defeats Windsor Collegiate Alumni in Final Game for Dominion Title; Score is 18-15 With Royal City Team Winning Honors by Single Point; Easterners Led 12-5 at Half-time; Adanacs Display Great Determination and Grit; Fraser and Butler Star.

New Westminster, May 2—Determination and grit proved too much for the machine-like system at the Queen's Park arena here last night. New Westminster Adanacs, Western Canada basketball champions, came from behind in a stirring finish to outscore Windsor Collegiate Alumni 18-15 and win the Canadian basketball championship by one point. Last night's game was the second of the series for the championship, total points determining the winner. Windsor won the first game of the series, Monday, 20-18, and Adanacs' win last night gave them the round 36-35.

When the first half of the final battle had been played, it looked as though the Montreal cup and the Canadian title would go back to Windsor, where they have reposed for the last year. The Easterners were leading the Adanacs squad 12-5 at the interval.

But the second half was a different tale. Where in the opening session the Easterners had dominated the play, Adanacs took things into their own hands in that frantic second half. They went out and outscored Windsor.

A WILD FINISH

It was a wild finish. With Adanacs out in front by one point, Windsor attacked in force, and in wild fury, in an effort to take the title back home again. But it was not to be. The spirit of the old Salmonbellies lacrosse teams, bred in New Westminster athletes, came to the fore, and they held that lead.

When the final gun sounded, pandemonium broke loose in the arena and thousands rushed headlong on to the playing court, climbing over benches, officials and reporters in their mad efforts to get close to the new Canadian champions.

It is the first time since the competition was inaugurated four years ago, that a coast team has won the Canadian title.

Bill Gifford and Ted McEwan scored the three winning baskets for the coast team in the second half, McEwan getting two and Gifford one. It was the only time they scored during the night.

THE BIG FACTORS

Doug Fraser and Dick Butler, guards of the Adanacs proved one of the big factors in the win. Wally Mayers, star forward of the Western crew, was pulled out of the game in the first half, with three personal fouls on him. He entered again in the second half, got his only basket of the series to start a rally, and then was retired for the rest of the game on four fouls.

Edwards, King and Dawson were the most effective of the Windsor quintette. Edwards did yeoman work on the forward line, while Dawson and King proved a formidable pair of guards.

The teams were as follows:

Windsor—Butcher (3), Edwards (7), King, Dowd (2), Dickeson, Dawson (3). Total, 15.

Adanacs—Fraser (3), Hood (1), Gifford (2), Butler (5) Mayers (2) McEwen (5). Total 18.

RENNIES WIN OVER NAVY TO GAIN TROPHY

Gain Permanent Possession of Cup Bearing Their Name By 3-2 Victory

Navy Have Best of Play But Forwards Lack Finish; Tars Led 1-0 at Interval

Rennie and Taylor won the cup bearing their name for the third time in succession, and thus gained permanent possession of it, when they defeated the Navy Wednesday League soccer team yesterday afternoon at the Royal Athletic Park 3-2. The winners had the better finish throughout, but did not have the best of the play, the Navy losing because their forwards did not take advantage of the opportunities.

Both teams started short, the Bakers with nine men and the Navy with ten, and this accounts for the comparative slowness of the first half. The game was even during this time with both teams making ineffectual rushes. Davis, outside left for the winners, almost scored, but the Navy came right back to press on Rennie's goal. After about half-an-hour of play, the Navy scored through Robinson, their centre forward. Soon after this, Purdy of Rennies arrived and both teams were at full strength. From then on, Rennies pressed, though at half time the Navy were still leading 1-0.

STEWART INJURED

On the resumption, the Bakers almost scored twice. After about ten minutes Dave Stewart, left half-back for the bakers, was injured and retired from the game for a short time. The Bakers still kept on the offensive and scored when Davie, their centre, accepted a fine pass from Davis at outside left. The Navy went on the offensive, and after Coster had almost scored, Marr and Robinson fumbled after dribbling through the Bakers' defence. A few minutes later, the Bakers invaded the Navy area, and stayed there long enough to score two goals. Davie scored one, his second, and Taylor got the second on a beautiful shot. With the score 3-1 against them, the Navy went on the attack, completely outclassed their opponents, and speeded up the game considerably. In these last few minutes, Navy shots hit the crossbar and skidded around each post, though one short, that of Walker's, went home.

Hewison refereed.

The teams were as follows:

Rennie & Taylor—Geddes; Newman, Haggen; Wright, Tupman, Stewart; Taylor, Nex, Davie, Purdy and Davis.

Navy—Zanelli; Hall, Lovett; C. Whyte, Roberts, Dadsby; Coles, Marr, Robinson, Walker and Cozier.

WESTERN COLTS MAY WIN DERBY

Naishapur, Ervast and Voltear, Given Good Chances of Winning Kentucky Classic

New York, May 2—From out of the West come three formidable challengers for the 1929 Kentucky Derby. The Far West's best, few in numbers, have been considered lightly in the past by the turfmen of the East, but this year it is a different story. Naishapur, Ervast and Voltear, a trio of as good colts as ever invaded the derby from the West, are commanding attention of leading horsemen.

Naishapur, a son of Omar Khayam, the only imported colt ever to win the United States turf classic, commands attention because of his meteoric racing at Tijuana, where he won the Tijuana handicap and was beaten by only a head for the Coffroth, $100,000 handicap, the richest stake event in America.

FINE WORKOUT

Ervast, California's equine express, which has come out of a maze of mystery as a derby contender, has caused no little comments the last few days, following the report of his sensational workout at Tijuana Sunday. Here is what Ervast did in making one of his final gestures before leaving for Churchill Downs.

First mile in 1.36 3-5.

The mile and an eighth in 1.49 4-5.

Galloped out the mile and a quarter in 2.05 2-5.

The workout was one-fifth of a second faster than the running time of the Tijuana Derby where Naishapur and Voltear staged their battle.

Voltear, running under the colors of the Dixiana Farm of Kentucky, jumped into the spotlight last Saturday when he won the Chesapeake Stakes at Havre De Grace in impressive fashion. Out of Tijuana, Naishapur twice whipped Voltear, the last time in the Tijuana Derby.

BOATING COMMITTEE TO MEET

The boating committee of the J.B.A.A. will meet this evening at 7.30 o'clock in the clubhouse.

AMATEUR BOXING CHAMP STRIPPED

Buddy Howard, A.A.U. Champion Heavyweight, Has Amateur Card Cancelled

New York, May 2—Elmer (Buddy) Howard of New Haven, winner of th United States A.A.U. heavyweight boxing championship, has had his amateur registration card cancelled and been stripped of his title honors, Daniel J. Ferris, National A.A.U secretary announced to-day.

Howard recently announced his intention to turn professional and applied for a license to box in New York.

Charges against Howard, involving his amateur status, have been pending for sometime, Ferris said, but no formal action was taken until the local A.A.U. registrations committee, in Philadelphia yesterday cancelled Howard's amateur card on grounds of misrepresentation. He was registered and competed as a representative of the Philadelphia district in the national championships at Boston after having been refused a license by the Connecticut association of the A.A.U.

The national heavyweight amateur championship is now officially vacated, as a result of the action against Howard, and a special series of bouts among his erstwhile opponents is expected to be held in New York to decide a new title holder.

Striking Horse Owners Told To Race Or Leave

Aurora, Ill., May 2 — Striking horse owners, who have caused at least a two-day postponement of the annual Spring turf meeting at the Aurora track, yesterday were ordered to race or get off the track.

The ultimatum was issued by Clifford R. Trimble, general manager of the track, who warned that no further concessions would be granted the strikers and that thoroughbreds from other points would be invited to compete, beginning Friday.

MINOTAUR RETURNS A BIG PRICE

Winner of Rennert Handicap at Pimlico Rewards Backers With $104.90

Ramoneur Captures Feature Event at Jamaica; Lucille Lexington Winner

New York May 2.—Capping a day of upsets, Minotaur, three-year-old son of Sunbrier-Irish Lady II, turned in one of the longest shot victories of the Spring racing season yesterday to win the Rennert Handicap at Pimlico. Minotaur paid her backers $104.90 for each $2 mutuel ticket. Coming from behind and closing with a rush, Minotaur won going away by three lengths from My Sis. Too High was only a nose behind My Sis in the battle for the place.

Minotaur, carrying the silks of C. Grafignini, galloped the distance of six furlongs in 1.13. The race was worth $5,420 net to the winner.

The running of the Rennert marked the return of Twink from the Loma stable, rated as one of the leading two-year-olds last year. Ridden by Fields he ran a poor race, however, and was never in the running.

ONE FAVORITE WINS

Only one favorite came through in the day's racing at Pimlico. Water Lad led the field to the finish wire in the sixth race to pay $66.50 to win while other outsiders paid their backers sums amounting from $10 to $30 for each $2 ticket.

J. L. Holland's Ramoneur, ridden by Laverne Fator, romped away with the Fleet Handicap, a six furlong sprint at Jamaica. For several minutes after the race there was some doubt if Ramoneur had won as it appeared that Fator shut off Cheers at the far turn. The two horses got away to a flying start and ran head and head to the far turn. Suddenly Inzelone on Cheers was forced to take back and finished fourth and last. The place went to Ironsides by a nose from Dolan.

Yesterday's racing at the New York track marked the first victory of the season on the Metropolitan turf for A. Robertson, the little jockey who carrier off riders' honors at Bowie and Havre de Grace. Robertson was up on Snooze, the winner of the fifth race.

LUCILLE COPS STAKES

Lucille, carrying the colors of Stone and Rucker, was victorious over a field of four starters in the Hinata stakes, a 4½ furlong sprint for two-year-old fillies at Lexington. The victory brought Lucille's record for the season to five wins in ten starts. The place was won by Thistle Ann, which was an easy second, eight lengths in front of Princess Margaret which finished third. Lucille was an odds-on favorite and paid only $2.62 for a $2 mutuel ticket.

Charlie Belanger Scores a Knockout

Winnipeg, May 2.—Charles Belanger, Winnipeg, Canadian light heavyweight champion, scored a knockout victory here last night over Jackie Lee, Los Angeles fighter, in the last round of their ten-round bout. Belanger won all the way but could not finish the game Californian until the last round. Lee took merciless punishment from wicked rights and lefts.

SEATTLE TEAM TO PLAY HERE

Strong Lacrosse Team From Sound City Will Perform Here on May 24

To arrange for the lacrosse match to be played here during the May 24 celebration, between Senior Oaklands team and an All-star squad from Seattle, Hamilton Douglas, head of the Sound city organization, is in the city to-day for a conference with Leonard Tait, president of the local body. Mr. Douglas is accompanied by Ranny McMillan, captain of his team.

Two teams will operate in Seattle this season and the game is becoming very popular in that city, Mr. Douglas states.

The exhibition match will most likely be played on May 24. The Victoria team will journey to Seattle for a return game at a later date.

Bob McGinnis, manager of the Oaklands team, is getting his boys into shape for the match and is confident they will be able to take the Seattle squad into camp.

Helen Wills To Be Presented To Queen Mary May 9

London, May 2.—Helen Wills, United States tennis queen, will be presented at court to Queen Mary on May 9 by Mrs. Ray Atherton, wife of the United States Charge d'Affaires. As Miss Maude Hunnewell, Mrs. Atherton was a widely known golfer, competing in the British ladies' championship and other big tournaments.

Mrs. Atherton's position in the court ceremonies is due to the absence of Mrs. Charles G. Dawes, whose husband is to be the new ambassador from the United States. Besides Miss Wills seven other United States women will be presented at the first court of the season at Buckingham Palace. At the second court on May 10, eight additional American women will be introduced.

THE BIG SIX

Rain forced the American League half of the "Big Six" into idleness yesterday, but the National League division failed to gain. Rogers Hornsby got two out of six in the long game at Cincinnati, but lost five points to .365, while Goose Goslin remained stationary in the lead with .405. A semi-official revision of the figures left Lou Gehrig in third place with .306, while Jim Bottomley was fourth with .283 after getting only one hit against the Pirates. Paul Waner helped himself a bit with two hits, and gained to .267.

The standing:

The Toledo fighter made his debut before local fans on Saturday, April 6, and handed the colored sensation the first defeat he ever tasted in a local ring. Lohman made a great hit with the fans.

Chicago Cubs Will Start Invasion of Eastern Strongholds

Favorites to Lift National League Title Out to Prove They Can Win Away From Their Home Diamond; Closed Stay Yesterday at Cincinnati by Playing Thirteen Innings to Four-all Tie; St. Louis and Pittsburgh Also Play 4-4 Tie Game Over Thirteen Inning Route; Athletics Go on Batting Rampage.

The Chicago Cubs are perched on the brink of their great adventure—a quest through the East in an effort to prove that they really can win a ball game away from home. After taking two beatings in three days at Cincinnati, Chicago closed their stay there yesterday by fiddling through thirteen innings of baseball in a game eventually called with the score tied at 4-4 to permit the Cubs to start their trek eastward on schedule.

The St. Louis Cardinals and the Pittsburgh Pirates also engaged in a 4-4 tie game over the thirteen-inning route yesterday as rain swept out all National League competition in the East.

The Philadelphia Athletics featured an abbreviated campaign in the American League by stampeding the Boston Red Sox by 24-6 in a game which netted the Athletics twenty-nine hits, good for forty-four bases. Al. Simmons capped the Athletics' attack with five hits, one of which was a home run. Jimmy Fox also contributed five safeties, two of which were home runs.

The St. Louis Browns quietly opened their invasion at Cleveland by shading the Indians, 4-3, behind the smart pitching of Al. Crowder, and stayed in front of the league.

The rest of the American League programme yesterday was swept away by rain at New York and Chicago.

Los Angeles, May 2.—The Seattle Indians made it two straight over Hollywood here yesterday with a 15 to 10 decision in a wild slugfest. Both sides hammered out the same number of hits, sixteen, but the Indians made theirs count for more. Among the thirty-two safeties were home runs by Dudley Lee, Hollywood shortstop, and Fred Knothe, Oscar Eckhardt and Wally Hood of the Indian forces.

Walter Mails, left-hander, was driven to the showers when a walk and four hits brought in four runs. Turpin and Johns, who followed, also were hit hard. LEWIS WINNER OVER STETCHER

"Strangler" Gains Two Falls in Record Time of Forty-one Minutes

Los Angeles, May 2.—"Strangler" Lewis, former heavyweight wrestling champion, scored one of the most decisive victories of his long string of encounters, with Joe Stecher, also erstwhile champion, by pinning the Dodge City, Neb., wrestler to the mat twice in 41 minutes last night.

Lewis won the best two out of three falls match, the $10,000 purse, and Stecher's diamond-studded championship belt, by throwing the latter in 16 minutes 2 seconds in the second fall and 4 minutes 18 seconds in the third fall of the match.

STECHER WON FIRST

Stecher had taken the first fall in 20 minutes and 51 seconds. Lewis fought furiously for the next fall, taking it with a body slam. The deciding fall was won by the "strangler" with a series of his famous headlocks.

The match was staged to determine which former champion should gain the right to meet "Dynamite" Gus Sonnenberg, present champion, if such a match may be arranged.

Annual Gymnastic Performances By High Athletes to Be Held May 17 and 18

Victoria High School students will stage their annual gymnastic display on May 17 and 18 in the school gymnasium. The performance this year promises to surpass any presented in former years with a fine programme.

Mona Miller and W. A. Roper, directors of physical training at the school, have spent a great deal of time preparing the students for the performances and their efforts have been rewarded.

The programme will include flag and club drills, dumbell exercises and Scandinavian and English folk dancing by the girls, along with gymnastic displays on the parallel and horizontal bars, physical training exercises and pyramids by the boys.

The performances will commence at 8 o'clock on both evenings.

Glasgow, May 2.—Horton Smith, Joe Turnesa and Al Watrous played a three-way tie yesterday for first honors in the medal competition between the U.S. Ryder Cup professionals and a team of West Scotland amateurs at White Craigs links. They turned in cards of 72 for eighteen holes.

The medal scores of the U.S. team were:

Walter Hagen 73, Johnny Farrell 75, Gene Sarazen 77, Leo Diegel 73, Joe Turnesa 72, Smith 72, Esqinosa 75, Joe Watrous 72, Ed. Dudley 74, John Golden 75

For Scotland, J. A. Lang and Erskic S. McKinley of Alexandra, turned in cards of 75 to lead. The scores:

W. Campbell of Cambuslang 76, W. Tulloch of Cathkin, Brass 78, Lang 75, R. Scott Jr. of Glasgow 78, A. Jamieson Jr. of Pollock 88, McKinley 75, R. D. Brand of Eastwood 81, J. E. White of White Craigs 82, H. M. Dickson of Glasgow 76, J. Cavan of Elderslie 81.

WRESTLERS ARE NEARLY CHOKED

Seattle, May 2.—One grappler was choked to unconsciousness and three others were partially strangled when the Waseda University jiu jitsu team of the Tokio defeated the University of Washington mat squad in a combination jiu jitsu wrestling exhibition here last night.

The Japanese won the 125-pound and 135-pound matches, while the other three were draws. The athletes wrestled jiu jitsu style first, catch-as-catch-can second, and then tossed a coin to decide the third way when necessary.

Cliff Bloom, the Washington 125-pound champion, was choked into unconsciousness in the first fracas when his Oriental opponent, K. Takahata, gained a throat hold with his jiu-do jacket. After being revived Bloom continued in the American style, but lost at his own game.

SPRINGS SURPRISE

Howard Olson, the heavyweight champion of Washington, furnished the surprise of the night when he partially strangled Saigo Ozaki. Ozaki had easily won in the first bout at jiu-do and Olson gained a fall in the catch-as-catch-can second canto. The Japanese won the toss and chose his own style in the last match.

Olson caught him off balance and brought the jacket crosswise over the Japanese's throat. He retained the hold throughout the five-minute period, but as Ozaki refused to give in, the bout was called a draw. The Japanese was carried out of the ring, however.

Wayland Dean, former New York Giant pitcher, is through as a pitcher because of a bad arm, but hopes to continue in baseball as an outfielder.

Leo Durocher, who has established himself as baseball's greatest "jockey," isn't much of a batter, but he is one of the best fielding shortstops in the major leagues. He's with the Yankees.

LAUGHS from the DIAMOND

BY BILLY EVANS

Hank O'Day, one of the greatest umpires in the history of the game, now out of active service but doing scouting work for the National League, shuns publicity. Hank would have been more satisfied if he could have gone through life without having anyone knowing him off the ball field. When the game was over he wanted to forget baseball until the next afternoon at three.

Baseball fans, on the other hand, like nothing better than a conversation with some celebrity of the game, no matter how short it may be. Ordinarily a most agreeable person, Hank could get decidedly brusque when some inquisitive fan would seek to get all the inside dope on the day's game, or ask him to settle some foolish question.

Perhaps no one thing caused more arguments than daylight saving time. Several years ago Chicago adopted the plan, but St. Louis didn't, and as a result there was an hour's difference in time between the two cities.

O'Day, while getting shaved in his hotel barber shop in St. Louis, was asked to settle a question as to whether or not St. Louis wasn't one hour slower than Chicago. The fan who insisted St. Louis was an hour slower than Chicago agreed to leave the matter to O'Day for a decision. No doubt the fan wanted a chance to talk to O'Day, even more than have him settle the question.

"You lose," drawled Hank. "St. Louis an hour slower than Chicago? It's 100 years slower."

Champion Marathoner —By Jimmy Thompson

Johnny Miles, formerly of Nova Scotia, and now of the Hamilton O.C., has the distinction of being twice winner of the Boston Marathon.

The first time Johnny won this event he was a real dark horse and his victory made the sporting world, particularly in the United States, sit up and take notice. In his second effort the heat proved too much for him, and he lost out. Conditions for his recent and successful third attempt were ideal, and his clever head-work aided by stout leg-work had a chance to prove his rare abilities as a marathoner.

On Good Friday, before his race at Boston, he showed his heels to a large field in the fifteen-mile Toronto Marathon. In winning the Boston Marathon, Miles defeated such well-known runners as Whitey Michelson and Clarence De Mar of the Millrose A.C., New York.

Incidentally, Johnny has a fiancee, who, he says, provided the necessary inspiration for his Boston achievement.

RAIL EARNINGS SHOW DECREASE

Due to Day Less in February, 1929, Earnings $233,539 Lass Than Last Year

Ottawa, May 2.—Gross revenues of Canadian railways during February were $38,429,330. The decrease of $233,539 from February, 1928, is stated by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics to be due to the extra day in the month last year.

Freight traffic, however, decreased by 4.8 per cent, due largely to a light movement of grain in the West. Passenger traffic showed a decrease of 2.1 per cent, which was a slight gain on a daily basis. Operating expenses were heavier than in 1928 by $692,849 or 2.2 per cent, and the net operating revenue was reduced by $926,389. With the exception of 1926's net revenue, however, it was considerably higher than for any previous February.

SAN FRANCISCO SHIPPING

San Francisco, May 2.—R. R. Drummond, formerly of the liner Sonoma, will leave here for Honolulu shortly to take command of the motorship Carriso, it was learned yesterday. He will take the place of Capt. Dick Connell, who was killed when he fell from the gang plank of the Carriso at Samaria, New Guinea, March 31. Chief Officer E. Erickson, who took command of the vessel after Capt. Connell's death, will turn his command over to Capt. Drummond when the ship reaches Honolulu.

Announcement of the appointment of eight men to the United States naval reserve and of the presentation of a merchant marine naval reserve flag to the Ss. Ventura, was made at Twelfth Naval District headquarters yesterday. Included among the men received appointments were Lieut. Elmer John Stult, chief mate of the Ss. Melville Dollar, and Lieut. Alexander Oak, engineer of the Ss. Columbia.

DOROTHY DUE AT DOCK AT 9 O'CLOCK

From ports in California with 477 tons of cargo and fifty-five passengers for this port, the coastal liner Dorothy Alexander is due at the Rithet piers here to-night at 9 o'clock, according to a wireless message received in the city this morning by W. M. Allan, local agent, from Capt. G. A. Harris, master of the vessel. On account of the exceptionally heavy cargo it is expected that the liner will be here several hours before proceeding to Seattle.

Princess Kathleen In Service To-day; Louise In Drydock

Looking spick and span in a new coat of paint and in trim running order after her overhaul in the Esquimalt drydock, the crack C.P.R. coast steamer Princess Kathleen took over the Vancouver sailing of the triangle run this afternoon. She left Victoria at 2.15 o'clock in place of the Princess Charlotte, tied up with engine trouble.

The Summer schedule for the triangle run will not go into effect until May 12, when the Princess Marguerite will be put on the run. The afternoon boat will then leave for Vancouver at 1.45 o'clock, and will arrive at 2.30 o'clock. The sailing to Seattle will be the same, 4.30 o'clock, but the arrival will be half an hour earlier, 12.45 o'clock instead of 1.15 o'clock.

Before taking the Alaska service the Princess Louise was floated into the Esquimalt drydock this morning for cleaning, painting and general overhaul. She will take her first sailing out of Vancouver to Skagway on May 9.

Excursion to Seattle on Saturday, May 11, Ss. Princess Kathleen. ***

Princess Adelaide To Take Excursion To Port Angeles

In place of the Princess Mary, which will be in Vancouver on that day, the Princess Adelaide will take the excursion trip to Port Angeles on Saturday, it was announced this morning at C.P.R. offices.

Under the auspices of the C.P.R. Social and Athletic Club the Adelaide will leave the Belleville Street docks at 1.30 o'clock on Saturday, and will return to Victoria about 10 o'clock in the evening. An orchestra will be carried for dancing and an enjoyable time is assured all who take this first excursion trip of the year.

The commencement of the Princess Kathleen on the triangle run to-day will not interfere with her taking the excursion trip to Seattle on Saturday, May 12, it was announced to-day. She will be relieved on that day by some other steamer. The Kathleen will leave Victoria at 9 o'clock in the morning, and after five hours in the Sound City will be back in Victoria by 10 o'clock Saturday night. This trip is under the auspices of the Usadians Club. Already a brisk sale of tickets is reported, and it is expected that the big steamer will take her capacity on her only excursion trip of the season.

The Princess Alice will take the annual excursion to Bellingham in connection with the Tulip Festival there on May 10, leaving Victoria at 7 o'clock on the morning of that day.

C.N.R. Earnings Show Big Increase

The gross earnings of the Canadian National Railways for the week ending April 21, 1929, were $5,046,880, as compared with $4,524,304 for the corresponding period of 1928, an increase of $522,585, or 12 per cent.

REPORT BLAMES MATE FOR SHIP WRECK RECENTLY

Second Officer of Rochelle Heavily Scored in Deputy Commissioner's Report

After reviewing the evidence given at the recent hearing into the grounding of the British freighter Rochelle on Boulder Reef, off Mary Island on March 9, Capt. J. D. Macpherson, deputy to the Dominion Wreck Commissioner, has prepared a report, assisted by Capt. S. Vint and Capt. R. Archibald, assessors at the hearing, covering in detail the account of the grounding. The investigation was held in the Vancouver Court House on April 3 and 4, D. E. McTaggart appearing for the master and first mate, and Sidney Smith for the second mate of the Rochelle.

Captain Macpherson's report follows:

"The court having carefully enquired into the circumstances attending the above mentioned shipping casualty, finds for the reasons stated in the annex hereto, that the sole blame for the stranding of the steamship Rochelle, must be entirely imputed to John Knox, the second mate of the vessel, for the negligent, careless and imprudent manner in which he navigated the vessel under his charge, by altering her course after sighting a light, which he took no steps to verify, and which was not, nor by any stretch of imagination could be, the light which he erroneously supposed it to be. The court is thoroughly satisfied that the altering of the vessel's course on sighting the light was the sole and only reason for the subsequent stranding, and that it was not in the remotest degree due to deviation, or any erratic behavior of the compass, or to wind, weather, or tidal conditions or influences.

IMPROPERLY ALTERED

"The court is further of the opinion that the course set by the master, Edward F. Talbot, after passing Rebecca Island on March 9, when leaving Blubber Bay, was a good, safe and prudent course, and if it had not been improperly altered by John Knox, the second mate, after sighting a light, no casualty would, or could have happened.

"The court being in doubt, owing to an omission in the wording of one of the papers served on John Knox, whether it had the authority to deal with his certificate, will in this instance give him the benefit of that doubt, and returns to him his certificate as mate of a passenger steamer in the coasting trade, with the remark that it does so most reluctantly. Were it not for this doubt in question, coupled with the kindly remarks of Robert B. Mather, the general manager of the company which operates the vessel, the court would have no hesitation in suspending the certificate of John Knox, for a considerable period of time. No possible blame can, in the opinion of the court, be imputed to Edward Frederick Talbot, the master of the vessel, for the casualty, and the court returns him his certificate as master of a passenger steamer in the coasting trade, with the remark that in its opinion the stranding of the vessel under his command does not reflect in the slightest manner on his character and ability as a shipmaster and seaman. The same remark applies, with slight qualifications, on C. Anderson, the first mate of the vessel, whose certificate is returned to him."

In the lengthy annex to the report it says, "The court is further of the opinion that the second mate would have been better advised had he, in giving his evidence, done so in a more manly and straightforward manner, instead of, as he did, attempt by subterfuge and evasion to attribute the casualty to anything and everything else, other than what was clearly apparent to all that heard the evidence. The court, but for a doubt as to its authority to do so, owing to an omission in the wording of one of the papers served on Mr. Knox, would have no hesitation in suspending his certificate as mate of a passenger steamer in the coasting trade for a considerable period of time, but due to that doubt returns, with great reluctance, his certificate to him, with the remark that this procedure must not be taken as a precedent for future cases that might arise, by junior officers of steamships on coasting vessels, who possess higher certificates that are required by law for the rating which they, at the time, are holding.

"No possible blame in the court's opinion can justly be imputed to Edward Frederick Talbot, the master of the vessel, for the casualty. He was at rest practically to the time of the impact with the reef and had every right to be. The same remark with slight qualifications, as before alluded to, applies to C. Anderson, the first mate of the vessel. The court returns to them both their certificates."

The time used is Pacific standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of lower low water.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Esquimalt Dry Dock at any tide, add 18.9 feet to the height of high water as above given.

UNIQUE THEME IS FEATURE OF COLUMBIA FILM

An unusual combination of intense dramatic action and thrills is interwined with the sweetest of romances, iving "Aflame in the Sky," F B O production at the Columbia Theatre, unique theme seldom found in a ioving picture.

Alone, friendless and threatened by ll the indignities that ever threatned a helpless woman, little Inez arillo has almost given up hope—hen like a roaring messenger from the ods a huge aeroplane sweeps down and catters her persecutors.

A messenger from the other side of he world arrives in time to help and rescue her, to be rewarded with happiness and love.

Director J. P. McGowan has made a wonderful picture from this story. Not for one moment does the interest lag.

A wonderful cast includes Jack Luden, who does great work as the young English airman, Sharon Lynn, who is adorable as the little Spanish-American girl, William Humphreys, as the American aviator, and Bob McKim, who is surely the most villainous villain on the screen. Other players who acquit themselves well are Bill Scott, Charles Stevenson, William Franey, Mark Hamilton and Walter Ackerman.

THREE STARS ARE FEATURE IN FILM AT THE PLAYHOUSE

"Five and Ten Cent Annie," the Warner Bros.' picture now showing at the Playhouse Theatre, features not only Louise Fazenda, but Clyde Cook and William Demarest. Miss Fazenda has never been more appealingly amusing than in this love story of the five-and-ten clerk who loves a "White Wings" man. Clyde Cook is perfect as the timid but amorous street cleaner who inherits a million. Demarest plays the part of the bulldozing valet, who is thrown in as part of the bequest, and proceeds to make the lives of Annie and the little man who is now her husband, a torment, until Annie straightens out the trouble.

COMEDY TURNS MAKE COLISEUM FILM ENJOYABLE

The Coliseum Players, under the direction of Raymond "Toby" Leitch, appear this week at the Coliseum Theatre in a stage vehicle entitled "The Little Angel of Hell's Valley." The players take the stage every evening at 8.20 o'clock. On Saturday there will be three performances.

Splendidly cast, all the members of the popular little stock company are giving fine performances this week. The plot is good and the characters well sustained. There is plenty of comedy element running throughout the play, as well as more serious turns. "Toby" Leitch provides plenty of fun and keeps the audience in roars of laughter by his ridiculous antics and droll expressions. Miss Leone Webber, leading lady with the company, is well cast and pleases her many admirers. Others in the cast are Miss Ada Daniels, Miss Esther Todd, Leon Cluff, Lorus Bagsley, Paul Wallace and Forrest Taylor.

On the screen this week is a Gaumont production entitled "Mademoiselle Parley Voo," a sequel to the famous picture, "Mademoiselle from Armentieres." The current screen attraction is an all British production, British players and settings being used throughout.

MYSTERY BOAT LECTURE STIRS GREAT INTEREST

Admiral Campbell, V.C., D.S.O., who will lecture at the Royal Victoria, Wednesday, May 8, under the auspices of the District Council of the Canadian Legion, has written to the legion representative who is in charge of the lecture arrangements, saying that he is looking forward very much to his visit to Victoria. The admiral has many service friends in the district and expects to renew several old acquaintances.

The Canadian Legion is satisfied that the thrilling story which Admiral Campbell has to tell is sufficient to attract large audiences, and as the profits will be used to forward the work of that body it is thought that the lectures will appeal strongly to citizens of Victoria and district.

The District Council of the Canadian Legion is composed of representatives of the following branches: Britannia, British Campaigners, Naval Veterans, Tubercular Veterans, Pro Patria, North Saanich, Langford and Sooke.

GLEE SINGERS OPEN TO-NIGHT

Lieut.-Governor to Attend First Performance at Royal Victoria

The famous Westminster Glee Singers open their three-day farewell engagement at the Royal Victoria Theatre to-night, starting at 8.15 o'clock.

The seat sale is large and His Honor the Lieut.-Governor and party will honor the singers with their presence at the concert this evening. It is expected the singers will have a capacity audience as they did on their last appearance here last year.

The singers will offer entirely new programmes each performance. Chas. O'Connor, the popular Irish tenor, who accompanies himself on an old-fashioned harp, will be featured.

The box office is now open for the sale of tickets for one or all of the concerts.

There will be a children's matinee on Saturday at 2.30.

NANCY CARROLL PLAYS LEAD IN LATEST TALKIE

Nancy Carroll, the New York show girl, whose part in "Chicago" brought her fame in Hollywood, has completed her cycle of success and has returned to Manhattan. She is cast as the ingenue lead in George Bancroft's all-talking production, "The Wolf of Wall Street," which is showing at the Dominion Theatre.

It was Miss Carroll's success in the role of Roxy Hart, the publicity seeking gun-moll of the stage play "Chicago," that first brought her to the attention of Hollywood's picture makers, who saw her in a Los Angeles theatre during the run of the show. From the role of Roxy, she stepped into screen features and then was chosen by Anne Nichols for the part of Rosemary in Paramount's picturization of "Abie's Irish Rose." Since that performance she has played in some of the biggest Paramount pictures of the year.

Nancy's most recent picture was "Close Harmony," in which she was featured with Buddy Rogers. Her part in the Bancroft starring picture, "The Wolf of Wall Street," is that of a maid in the Bancroft home; unusual in this case by reason of the fact that the maid of "The Wolf of Wall Street" is one of the principal players in the case instead of being a minor character.

COLLEGE PLAYERS AGAIN CHARM BIG HOUSE HERE

"Rollo's Wild Oat" Is Well Presented By University of B.C. Company

The Players' Club of the University of British Columbia at the Royal Victoria Theatre last night presented "Rollo's Wild Oat" as their fourteenth annual Spring performance. The Victoria Kiwanis Club again sponsored the visit of the college players and the production of the show. The company was greeted by a big house, with leading Kiwanians occupying the boxes.

This year's group of undergraduate players lived up to the reputation which their predecessors in the last decade and more have set for their annual plays, and which made the club's annual visits her looked forward to with anticipation. The staging was as good as usual, and the youthful actors showed the characteristic enthusiasm in their work. Last night's audience thoroughly enjoyed and appreciated the performance.

In tackling "Rollo's Wild Oat," the members of the Players' Club showed real ambition as Clare Kummer's play, which had a long run at the Punch and Judy Theatre, New York, is somewhat longer and some of the roles heavier than those of the lighter plays taken on by the university actors and actresses.

Vivian Hood, who is a freshette of the arts '32 class, was cast in the star female role of Goldie MacDuff. She proved quite charming, happy and interesting on the stage. She started her dramatic work at the Bullock-Webster School.

Ann Ferguson of arts '31 drew applause from the audience for her character acting as a has-been actress, who looks back on her earlier triumphs.

Mary Stewart, another member of the arts freshman class, played a successful role as Rollo's vivacious kid sister.

Rollo was played by Alfred A. Evans of arts '31. He had a rather heavy and long role to sustain, but put it over successfully.

Alex G. Smith, a sophomore, made a particularly good job of the role of the crusty, domineering old grandfather.

The material-minded theatrical producer was played by Malcolm Pretty of arts '30 in a convincing way.

Sidney Risk of arts '30, as Rollo's serving man, and David MacDonald of arts '30, Greville Rowland of arts '29, Eric North of arts '31, Frances Madley of arts '29, and Jean Salter of arts '30, all maintained the traditions of the Players' Club in their work.

The college executive in charge of the details of the production included Miss Eileen Griffin, Miss Cecilia Garesche, St. John Madeley, Donald Emery, David Brock, John M. Billings and Ted Clark.

Bouquets were presented over the footlights at the close to the girls.

ZANE GREY STORY IS PRODUCED ON CAPITOL SCREEN

Such a hit did Nora Lane make as Adolphe Menjou's leading woman in "Marquis Preferred" that she was awarded another important role with Paramount and plays the feminine lead opposite Jack Holt in Zane Grey's "Sunset Pass."

The Zane Grey picture will be the third Paramount production in which Miss Lane has recently appeared. The first was Menjou's "A Night of Mystery" in which she was one of the two leading women.

It was as leading woman for the late Fred Thomson that Miss Lane first attracted attention in the motion picture world.

In her return to a part in a picture of the cattle country of the west Miss Lane is one of a cast which features Chester Conklin and John Loder, Paramount's new English leading man, as well as Holt. Otto Brower was the director of "Sunset Pass" now playing at the Capitol Theatre.

On the stage at the Capitol are Eva Gonella, Italian coloratura soprano, in song selections; Helen Grenelle, danseuse, lately featured with the big musical show "White Eagle," and Rolly and Ogden, the well-known comedy team, late of Panchon and Marco Circuit, along with Chris Wade and his Capitol Orchestra and Smiling Jack Medford, the singing master of ceremonies.

Device Protects Balloonists While Lightning Plays

Akron, Ohio, May 2—Elimination of lightning as a danger to balloonists has been partly accomplished by use of a protective shield, according to Ward T. Van Orman, the designer, and he will use one of the devices in the 1929 national balloon race to be held May 4, starting from Pittsburgh.

Van Orman, who won the national balloon races in 1924, 1925, 1926 and 1927 and the international race at Antwerp in 1926, also is experimenting with a device to protect the balloon itself from lightning. In 1928, Van Orman's balloon in the national race from Pittsburgh was struck by lightning. His aide, Walter W. Morton, was killed and Van Orman was injured. Lieut. Paul Everet, an army entry, also was killed similarly in the same contest.

The shield invented by Van Orman consists of cross arms extending diagonally across the metal load ring of the balloon above the basket. From the corners of the cross arms twelve heavy copper wires hang downward about a foot outside the edge of the basket. They extend downward about nine feet.

MOTHERS And THEIR CHILDREN

POLISHING IS PLAY

One Mother says:

When children pine for something to do, on a rainy day, I let them help clean silver or brass that needs polishing. First, cover the kitchen floor with newspapers and put a thick pad of them on the kitchen table; then cover the children with capacious aprons and lay out a few simple pieces of silverware for them to work upon.

Children love to work with thick cream polishes that can be daubed on; and when dry soft cloths bring a shine to the surface, their delight is even greater. The whole affair is great fun for a rainy day and a big help to this busy mother, who teaches her children to help as well as to play!

Copyright, 1929, Associated Editors, Inc.

Our advice to Mr. Trotzky is to make his way to Mexico and feel at home again.

Alice—Why don't you tell Rod frankly that you don't like him as well as Ted?

Jean—I can't. I'm not sure that Ted will propose.

Actress Cancels Engagement To Divorced Count

London, May 2—Announcement was made last night that the engagement of Miss Tallulah Bankhead, actress, and Count Anthony de Bosdari, which was announced last December, had been cancelled by mutual consent. The count was divorced from the former Josephine Fitch of Chicago shortly before he became affianced to Miss Bankhead.

Maude—Yes, Bob has gone off to France. And do you know, by some new system he learned to speak French in two weeks. I can't understand it."

Percy—No, and I doubt if the French people do either.

Twenty-two noted gangsters have just been run out of Chicago. That is fine for the whence, but not so good for the whither.

The Man—Once upon a time I loved a girl just like you.

The Maid (sympathetically)—And did you lose her?

The Man (sadly)—No, I married her.

StomachOut of Order
Until He Tried TANLAC

All pains are bad, but some are worse than others. About the worst are Stomach pains. A real cramp in the stomach just about doubles one up. Mr. F. Gauthier of Great Falls, Man., was very sick because of Stomach Trouble. Ordinary meals brought on terrible cramps. He lost weight; could not sleep; and became very nervous. Tried various medicines but nothing seemed to do him any good. Then, he writes, "I was advised to try TANLAC, and I want to say that TANLAC filled the bill. Indigestion, stomach trouble, nervousness, sleeplessness have all disappeared; and I am eating, sleeping and working as a healthy, vigorous man should." If everything you eat distresses you, if you are pale, weak and nervous, let TANLAC help you. It is made from roots, barks and herbs. Nature's own medicines for the sick and costs less than 2c a dose. Get a bottle at your druggist's to-day—your money back if it does not help you. (Advt.)

IN AIMEE'S CASE

Impeachment proceedings against Superior Judge Carlos T. Hardy of Los Angeles as a result of his acceptance of a cheque from Aimee Semple McPherson as a "love offering," probably will find Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman-Selfaff, above, a "surprise" witness. She gave interesting testimony in the legislative hearing that led to the impeachment action.

She—They were at sea when they married.

He—Now they are drifting apart.

She—"Why so thoughtful, dear?"

He—"I have one dollar over this week and can't remember which instalment I forgot to pay."

"Aren't you ashamed to be seen—four of you hitting one boy?"

"It is quite all right—he told us to go and steal apples out of an orchard and we are giving him his share of what we got."

CHAMBER WILL NAME NEW HEAD

The first meeting of the newly-elected directorate of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce will be held to-morrow at 12.15 o'clock in the Chamber dining-room. Election of a president, vice-president and treasurer will form one of the major items of business.

What Mr. I. Wright Says About Dodd's Kidney Pills

Prince Edward Island Man Highly Recommends Them to All Sufferers

Howland, P.E.I., May 1 (Special).—The following is one of the many letters of praise which we are continually receiving. It comes from Mr. I. Wright, R.R. No. 1, Howlan, P.E.I. He writes:

"I cannot say too much for Dodd's Kidney Pills as they have worked wonders for me. I had backache for some time and could not get anything to help me. I had heard what Dodd's Kidney Pills have done for others, so I tried two boxes and now I am feeling great. If I am ever troubled again I will take more of them for they did me such a lot of good. I am a laboring man 33 years old and recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to all kidney sufferers."

When Food Sours

Sweeten the stomach—instantly

About two hours after eating many people suffer sour stomachs. They call it indigestion. It means that the stomach nerves have been over-stimulated. There is excess acid. The way to correct it is with an alkali, which neutralizes many times its volume in acid.

The right way is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia—just a tasteless dose in water. It is pleasant, efficient and harmless. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

It is the quick method. Results come almost instantly. It is the approved method. You will never use another when you know.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any drug store. (Advt.)

STEEL MEN DOWNED TOOLS ON MAY DAY

Workers on Hotel Contract Took Temporary Holiday, But Are Back at Work

Concrete Is Being Poured on Floors of Big Contract Here

Victoria, in common with other parts of the world, had its May Day labor demonstration when the steel structural workers engaged on the Empress Hotel wing downed tools and took a day's holiday.

Any differences that may have existed on Monday, however, were promptly smoothed out without resort to prolonged arbitration, for the steel workers were hard at work this morning on the great skeleton frame at the Causeway.

The men, it was stated, stopped work under a misapprehension, word having been sent out from Vancouver that a strike was being called by the steel workers demanding a rise in wages from $9 to $10 per day.

WORK ACTIVELY PROCEEDS

The men are at work on the contract to-day, it was announced, at the $9 schedule. All the steel operators are employed by the Dominion Bridge Company, which has the contract for the framework.

The activity prevailing on the Empress Hotel contract to-day gave the impression that the workers were satisfied with conditions.

Another month is expected to see the completion of the steelwork at the present rate of progress.

Seven floors of steel for the main building are in position and work is now being concentrated on the erection of steel for the connecting wing between the new and existing hotel structures.

Six giant cantilever girders, each weighing from sixteen to eighteen tons, will carry the weight of the building over the archway immediately north of the present hotel.

Concrete has been poured on two floors of the Humboldt Street structure and the carpenters have several other floors about ready for pouring operations. The stonemasons will get to work next week.

The general contractors, Carter-Halls, Aldinger Company Limited, are satisfied with progress on the contract.

MAY 24 PLANS SHAPING WELL

Entries in Parade Should Be Listed Early to Insure Place in Line of March

The parade committee of the May 24 groups working under the auspices of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, met last night at the Arcade Block and learned of steady progress being made in the preparation of parade of life and color for the festivities.

All those desiring to enter in any section of the parade are requested to get in touch with the parade committee, through Harold Palmer, general secretary of the holiday period arrangements, if they have not already done so.

A number of big floats have already been promised and from present indications the street parade will be a most attractive feature of the holiday period. Efforts are being made to lead off the parade with a naval contingent from the complement of H.M.S. Colombo of the British West Indies squadron, if that proves possible.

In order to gauge what entries will be put in the street parade, the committee is anxious to get in touch with all who are considering taking part in this section of the festivities. Many attractive and useful suggestions were received by the Junior Chamber in the idea contest, and these will be handed on to all who inquire of Mr. Palmer, or of any member of the May 24 committee groups.

A grand carnival at the Crystal Garden and a special demonstration by city schools at the Willows Arena will be other highlights on a programme of entertainment that will contain attractions for all.

So far great interest has been shown by all organizations and citizens, and the real spirit of carnival and fun is expected to grace the entire programme of May 24 events, to make it an outstanding success. Victoria, for the three-day period, will be host to large numbers of out-of-town visitors.

C.P.R. Building To Meet Needs of Traffic Growth

New Tonnage for Pacific Services and Important Hotel Construction Referred to by President E. W. Beatty in Justification of Company's Policy of Expansion Before Shareholders.

Montreal, May 2 — Expansion of the railway and steamship services of the Canadian Pacific Railway on both coasts of Canada and extensions to the company's hotels throughout the system to more adequately cope with the increasing traffic was stressed by E. W. Beatty, president of the company, in addressing the shareholders here yesterday.

"The shareholders will have observed from perusal of the annual report that fairly extensive expansion is planned in all the major services of the company," said Mr. Beatty. "The branch line programme approved by Parliament is a substantial one, but more than warranted by the prospective developments in the Western provinces. It will, with your approval from time to time obtained, be given effect during the next few years as conditions justify the completion of the lines for the construction of which authority has been secured. Satisfactory arrangements have been concluded with the National Railways in those cases where the plans of the two companies conflicted. The additions to your ocean and coastal fleets have already received your approval and with these vessels provided, the company's strength and prestige will be further enhanced.

HOTEL EXTENSIONS

The extensions to the hotels are warranted by our experience and the future prospects of the cities they serve and as supplementary to the company's transportation operations. The substantial additions to equipment are rendered necessary if the company is to enjoy and satisfactorily handle its full share of the freight and passenger business of the country.

"In previous addresses to the shareholders I made reference to the freight rate situation. There is at present pending an appeal to the Governor-General in Council designed to secure reductions in the scale of rates between prairie points and the Pacific Coast and locally in British Columbia, notwithstanding that these rates have been fixed by the railway commission after extensive inquiry.

"These periodical agitations for the purpose of whittling down the revenues of the Canadian railways are at times difficult to understand. Local ambitions and rivalries are responsible for applications for reductions in rates which are often not warranted by the Coast service or by any considerations of sound economics. They are, of course, dealt with judicially and the position of the companies in every case is fully presented.

"It cannot, I think, be gainsaid that the companies are making a pronounced contribution, not only to industrial efficiency and commercial progress, but to Canadian development as well, and this contribution is only possible when revenues are such as to permit the ready obtaining of new capital. I am, naturally, only speaking of the position of the Canadian Pacific in this respect as the ownership of the National system by the Government and the provisions of its funds out of Government moneys and through Government credit distinguishes its position in its essential feats, features from that of a privately owned company.

"I am led to make this observation because it has been said frequently. Because the revenues of the companies are in the main secured from freight and passenger tolls paid by the shipper and passenger, the credit situation of both companies is identical. This surprising theory has been expressed to me by Frederick Palmer in his report on the Montreal terminal situation. Another argument is that the Government can enable the C.N.R. to carry out any scheme, even if extravagant, because it can provide the capital at the expense of the taxpayers, whereas the C.P.R. has to obtain new capital from its shareholders. Both these assumptions are perfectly true, but, really, they amount to one and the same thing, as will be shown. The source from which the capital comes is not important. Money is readily available everywhere if (1) the security is beyond doubt and (2) the return thereon is good. In both railways the security is first class. The return comes from the population of Canada.

Referring to the terminal station proposal in Montreal, the report said: "I desire to make a brief reference to the terminal situation in Montreal now prominently before Parliament, and a question of great importance to the city in consequence of the plans of the national system for concentration of their passenger facilities in one station and of the report of Frederick Palmer, an English engineer, made at the instance of the Government of Canada. Commenting on these plans and recommending certain extensions of them, no one can reasonably question the right of the national railways to improve their terminal facilities which are inadequate and were established by their constituent companies under conditions which do not exist to-day, and I have endeavored to make it clear that this company was not directly concerned with such plans unless its interest were thereby adversely affected, or unless plans for joint terminals were seriously put forward when the proposals were made. The Board of Railway Commissioners, which has jurisdiction under the statute in respect of station locations and street crossings, asked this company to submit its views on the proposed scheme. In consequence of this request, two reports were made by independent United States engineers of great expert knowledge, and were given careful consideration by the officers of the company, and it was their and my own view that we could not properly recommend to the board the joining in a union terminal with the additional financial obligations, which that would involve.

The principal reasons which dictated this decision were: The favorable location of the company's lines in and around the city of Montreal, with a well situated, adequate and economically operated passenger terminal at Windsor Station, with an equally adequate station at Place Viger, at the eastern end of the city, and suburban stations in the west and north, conveniently located for passenger traffic.

The company has very substantial investments in those terminals, particularly in Windsor Station, and the expansion of existing facilities can readily be made from time to time as traffic conditions require.

Mr. Palmer's report on which considerable reliance is placed by the Government, approves in principle of the national plan, and, in addition, recommends a joint passenger station at Lacauchetiere Street and consideration of further joint facilities on the island of Montreal.

COSTLY TERMINAL

The cost of his suggested rearrangement of terminals is estimated to be in the neighborhood of $85,000,000, while the cost of an exclusive Canadian National terminal is approximately $50,000,000. I do not need to remind the shareholders that these are enormous figures, even in these days, and that no similar undertaking has, to my knowledge, been attempted in any city in North America of a size relative to that of Montreal, not even in the United States, where costly and elaborate terminals are not unknown.

PAYROLL INCREASE

Negotiations have recently been concluded with the officers of the federated trade in consequence of wage increases granted in the United States to employees in similar work in that country. As a result Canadian railways have granted increase which will add approximately $1,500,000 to the annual pay to employees.

It is not anticipated anything will occur to destroy the harmonious relations between the men and the company.

It is with unusual satisfaction that I record the appreciation of the directors of the company of the efforts of our men in the company's interest during the past year. Both officers and employees have shown to a marked degree that efficiency and loyalty to the company which has characterized their attitude for many years, the very high morale which has always existed continues to make itself evident.

CITY OPENS NEW CHECKER COURT

Mayor Herbert Anscomb and Alderman John Worthington Star in Opening Game

J. Martin was declared the winner of the checker tourney, staged at Beacon Hill Park yesterday afternoon, in connection with the new outdoor court opened by the city for the entertainment of visitors at the park. Alderman William Marchant added a long string of victories to his list and landed well in the final.

The court was opened by Mayor Herbert Anscomb in appropriate remarks, and christened by an opening game between His Worship and Alderman John Worthington, who initiated the plan to provide this new attraction at Beacon Hill.

Contestants in the opening matches included Mayor Herbert Anscomb and Alderman John Worthington, W. H. Bolton, A. Gyle, T. Mattick, Alderman William Marchant, J. Cinder, J. Martin, W. Taylor, T. Combery, Constable George Clare, and Constable Robert Ireland. Constables Clare and Ireland were finalists in the police checker tourney recently played off. Announced as the winner of the city's tourney, J. Martin will receive an appropriate trophy of the occasion.

The city has offered the use of the checker court to the May 24 committee for use in promoting additional fun at the park during the festivities, and plans are now under way to secure a Vancouver-Victoria game.

BANKING GROUP ARRIVES IN CITY FOR CONFERENCE

B. P. Alley, Assistant General Manager of Bank of Commerce, Heads Party

Says B.C. Is Sharing General Prosperity Enjoyed By Canada

"British Columbia appears to be sharing in the general prosperity of the country," said B. P. Alley, assistant general manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, on reaching Victoria to-day from Toronto.

A group of financial men identified with the Canadian Bank of Commerce's banking operations in Western Canada, arrived with Mr. Alley for a conference here.

They are: E. E. Henderson of Winnipeg, superintendent of the Manitoba branch; H. F. Liggins of Regina, Saskatchewan branch; J. B. Corbet of Calgary, Alberta branch; and Mayne D. Hamilton of Vancouver, in charge of Pacific Coast branches.

It is the policy of the Bank of Commerce to preserve uniformity in its banking operations and in following out that policy conferences of branch superintendents are held periodically, stated Mr. Alley in explaining the present conference in Victoria.

Conferences have been held previously at Winnipeg, Calgary and Regina.

The discussions here are being held in a private suite in the Empress Hotel.

BUSINESS GOOD

During his tour of the West, Mr. Alley found general business conditions better than he had expected, he told a Times reporter to-day.

The last two crop years had been under the average, he said.

While the yield had been heavy the quality of the grain had been affected by frost. Last year was a no-profit year for the prairie farmer, but collections, he said, while they could be better, were as good as the year before.

CROP PROSPECTS

Speaking of crop prospects this year, Mr. Alley said there had been less pre-crop moisture than usual, and therefore the farmer would have to depend more upon the rains during the coming season.

Mr. Alley is in charge of the Western business of the Bank of Commerce from Port Arthur to Victoria.

Total building permits for work started within a two-mile radius of the City Hall from January 1 to date number 251 valued at $2,907,755. This is exclusive of permits issued in Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt, and compare with $460,161, the value of permits issued in the city for the same period last year.

Edward Roelofson was sentenced to one week's imprisonment by Magistrate Jay this morning on a charge of being in control of an automobile while under the influence of liquor.

Victoria Canaries, Whistling Popular Numbers, Put Seattle Bird In Kindergarten Class

Recent widespread publicity to the famous Seattle canary that is credited with the ability to whistle "Yankee Doodle" is completely overshadowed by the information just obtained of the accomplishment of a number of Victoria birds whose song repertoire by comparison relegates the golden songster of the United States to the kindergarten class.

Seattle has one canary whose trills extend to but one number beyond the ordinary song of the species. J. Grimston of 121 Hampton Road, Victoria, is the owner of a choir of canaries whose combined singing accomplishments include all the bugle calls of the British Army. He readily explained his training methods.

He takes his birds aside when they are very young and gives them a good "whistling to." This lasts for four or five months. It makes an impression on about one in every six. The various tunes he whistles to them are then incorporated into the daily song of the more attentive and brilliant birds, and, subject to the prevailing mood of the singer, come forth at the continual festival of the tribe.

When this primary education is finished, the happy chorus is broken up, for the birds do not follow one another to college, but are sent out into the hard, hard world, where, like their human counterparts, they are given sundry market values.

The nature of their singing education is entirely military. They are taught to whistle many well-known bugle calls. Thus the ideal canary—which is not—would waken Mr. and Mrs. Grimston with the invigorating notes of "Reveille," enlighten Mrs. Grimston before the serving of meals with "Cookhouse Door," and welcome Mr. Grimston on his return from the day's work with "The Last Post." But, unhappily, the canaries' songs are not controlled so nicely. After they are taught, they whistle at their own free will, and render their selections indiscriminately. Sometimes it is a case of misapplied genius, for they have a bad habit of imitating their less ostentatious neighbors, the linnets. But, on the whole, they are well-behaved, and have delighted not only the home of their upbringer, but also the Pacific Club and various other places with the inspiring notes of popular bugle calls.

DISCOVER NEW BEAUTIES IN JASPER PARK

Canadian Government Survey Party Finds New Scenes in Wilds of National Area

Ottawa, May 2.—New scenic wonders discovered in hitherto unexplored sections of Jasper National Park, Canada's great game sanctuary 5,300 square miles in area, are described in a report of recent surveys issued by the Department of the Interior.

Jasper Park was created by the Canadian Government in the heart of the Rocky Mountains in 1907. It then comprised, outside of the Athabaska and Miette valleys, a vast wilderness penetrated only by a few old Indian trails. Many of the now famous regions such as the Columbia ice fields and Maligne Lake were then little more than a rumor, while the Tonquin Valley, now visited every Summer by thousands of tourists, was then entirely unknown.

Government survey parties have each year been exploring and mapping new sections of this vast parkland. The report which has just been issued, deals with the work of a party under the direction of M. P. Bridgeland of the topographical survey. This party explored the area adjoining the headwaters of the Brazeau and Sunwapta Rivers, mapping 400 square miles of hitherto unexplored territory.

The discovery of many new scenic wonders is announced in this report. The territory surveyed was within the park or adjacent to its boundaries and was found to be very plentiful in game. Bear, moose, elk, deer, sheep and goats were seen in abundance. The new country is an ideal spot for tourists, the report states, the Brazeau Valley being a natural camping ground plentifully supplied with wood and water and excellent feed for horses. The valley is over 5,000 feet above sea level and the main peaks range from 9,000 to 10,000 feet elevation.

Planting Time

By E. M. THORNTON

Just a few reminders, and a word or two of caution. We have had a few fine, sunshiny days, which I know will make nearly everyone owning a garden anxious to get his planting of so-called bedding plants done. There are a few gardeners, however, who have learned from experience that one or two bright, warm days do not make a Summer. This minority knows that it takes a week or two of fine weather to warm up the soil sufficiently to make planting a success. Too early planting, while the soil is too cold, is liable to stunt your plants and to check them so that they—annuals, anyhow—are inclined to cut their flowering season short, and go to seed.

May 12 to 24 is, in my opinion, the best period in which to do your planting.

Too early a start often results in having all the work to do over again. In average years a garden planted as late as June 1 will overtake and beat any planted in April.

Another word regarding the size of plants to use. In my experience a medium to small plant, one that has not been allowed to become root-bound in the flats they are generally grown in, is infinitely to be preferred to a large plant in the condition named. The smaller plant will get away to a quicker start and will certainly give you flowers for a much longer time than the larger specimen, root-bound and hardened as it is.

Some annuals do not take kindly to transplanting. Mignonette, stocks, clarkia, sweet Sultan, are examples. You must handle these with a little more care than the general run which are not so sensitive.

The spot selected for your asters should have a good dressing with air-slacked lime some little time before planting, well incorporated in the soil. It helps to check the disease known as the yellows.

Do not water your snapdragons so as to have the foliage wet through the night. If you do you will almost surely have a bad attack of rust.

After planting, water thoroughly in the small depression left around each plant, leave for a few days until the roots have taken hold, then cultivate and level your beds; after that, and until the plants cover the ground, cultivate and keep all weeds down, and you will surely be repaid a thousand-fold in the beauty of the blossoms the plants will grant you as a return for all your labor.

As a last word, do not plant too early. Wait until the weather appears to be surely settled and warm.

ANTI-SUICIDE BUREAU OPENED

Salvation Army Extends Reform Work to the Utterly Hopeless

One of the most recent developments of Salvation Army work in Western Canada is the establishment of an anti-suicide bureau. Though necessarily avoiding the "limelight" this bureau yet constitutes a most effective branch of Salvation Army social work on behalf of men and women in circumstances of the most poignant need. It is in order to extend the work of this splendid department, as well as that among girls who go astray, neglected children and the forlorn of the community generally, that the annual self denial appeal is launched.

None of the self denial money goes to Great Britain; rather does International Headquarters of the Army provide funds as occasion arises for the extension of work of this king in Western Canada.

Instancing the work of the anti-suicide bureau, an officer connected therewith declared that the resources and sympathy of the department are called upon to deal with effects. Causes are beyond its control.

"Most cases of suicide, or attempted suicide," he said, "are the outcome of drink, ill-hea th, overwork, financial reverses, mental weakness and friendless old age."

The officer gave a typical instance of help given in the nick of time:

"An army officer," he said, "returning late one evening, was handed a bulky envelope by his wife. This had been left at the house earlier in the day and was addressed from a local hotel. The epistle told of a man's life-long struggle against drunkenness and stated that if the Army cou d help a man in that condition the officer must hurry or it would be too late. The writer said he had made all preparations to end his life if the struggle through which he was going did not end before morning.

"The officer went immediately. He found a well dressed, well-educated man of about forty. He was a truly pitiable sight and his story more distressing. He told how he had lost home, fortune and friends through inability to refrain from intoxicants. Now for some years, he, a man of good family, had been acting as roustabout in logging camps. And when broke, as he often was, he had become an essence and extract drinker. He had determined on suicide to end his misery, but he recalled hearing of the anti-suicide work of the Army and decided to give them a chance to he p if they could.

"An outcome of the officer's visit, and encouraging talk and prayer, was that the man decided to try once more. He was found a job, a very humble job, but he took it. Daily he was visited by the officer and gradually, not without a desperate struggle, but effectually, he was weaned of his thirst for liquor. To-day he is a respected citizen in an enterprising Western Canadian community.

"This," said the anti-suicide man, "is but one instance out of a hundred I can tell you of. Critics may say, most suicides don't advertise their purpose. True; but as in this case, the fact that the Army has a bureau to which the man or woman who has arrived at the extreme end can apply, has resulted in thousands being brought from thoughts of self-destruction and placed on the highroad of decent citizenship."

The officer said anti-suicide work has been carried on in Great Britain for many years, and now in nearly every large city in the world especially trained sympathetic men and women are engaged in seeking out those who, left to their own devices, would seek "the easiest way out."

PIONEER ANGLICAN CLERGYMAN DEAD

Rev. W. G. H. Ellison Came to Province in 1889; Farming Lately

One of the pioneer Anglican clergymen of this Province, Rev. William George Hollingworth Ellison, passed away at the Jubilee Hospital last night after a brief illness, at the age of seventy-two years. Mr. Ellison was born in Stockholm, Sweden, in 1857, and was ordained to the Anglican ministry in 1883, holding a pastorate in England for a few years before coming to this Province in 1889.

He retired many years ago and latterly had been interested in agricultural pursuits on property which he owned on the West Coast near Port Renfrew. His wife predeceased him a few years ago, and he is survived by one sister, Miss Ellison, of Victoria, and one daughter, Mrs. Tyrell Godman of Newick Lodge, Sussex, England.

The funeral will be held from the B.C. Funeral Chapel Saturday at 3 p.m., after which the remains will be forwarded to Vancouver for cremation.

Shaw Criticizes His Own Early Volumes

London—By Mail—George Bernard Shaw's letters are now becoming one of the piquant items in every auction of books and manuscripts, not only for the astonishing prices they realize, but for the self-revelation they contain. At Hodgson's rooms one autograph letter, which realized $250, revealed him as a violent critic of his own early work, "Cashel Byron's Profession," which he described as a "rotten' novel," and in another he offered frank advice to a correspondent on how he "might finally become, like me, a prosperous tradesman, as well as a celebrated artist."

Indeed, Mr. Shaw has only to write his name on one of his books to add $250 to $500 to its value, even though its published price may be no more than $1.50.

One presentation copy of the first edition of "John Bull's Other Island" which he signed and gave to the late Henry Arthur Jones, the dramatist, brought $500, while $300 was paid for an uncut copy of "Widowers' Houses" and $300 for a first edition of "Plays, Pleasant and Unpleasant." In the face of these prices for fragments of Mr. Shaw's handwriting, the imagination reels at any attempt to estimate what might be realized for, say, the complete manuscript of "Back to Methuselah."

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

(By Branson, Brown and Co. Ltd.)

Winnipeg, May 2.—The wheat market was extremely dull to-day, the quietest in weeks with nothing going on outside of a little local trade. Opening prices were unchanged, but the market acted a little nervous during the first fifteen minutes, when prices worker ½ higher to ½ lower. After this the market held firm, but for two hours prices only fluctuated ⅛.

Offerings were extremely light with no pressure in evidence, and it would seem that liquidation has been pretty thorough and wheat has passed into stronger hands, but still there is little short interest in this market, which makes it difficult to force prices higher. A very small export business was reported overnight and seaboard houses and exporters were not in the market. Offerings of cash wheat were just moderate, with the demand in the same class.

Millers and shippers took small lots of some grades early at slightly better spreads, but only for immediate needs. There is a serious congestion of grain at Montreal, Port Colbourne, Buffalo and other Eastern ports, which is naturally restricting trade in this market.

The weather over the Winter wheat belt is not favorable, temperatures being too low, with a few degrees of frost reported at several points, though no damage is reported. The weather in the Canadian West is also too cold for any material growth, but higher temperatures are forecast. The weather and the farm relief legislation being framed at Washington appear to be the main support under the market.

Near the close there were a few outside orders coming into the market, which were said to be based on further frosts in the South to-night. There being very little wheat for sale, the market advanced and closed at the top.

Coarse grains—These markets were firmer, especially in the last part of the session. There was not much doing, trade volume being small, but pressure was light. There was also export business yesterday in oats and barley, but nothing doing overnight or this morning.

Flax held steady most of the day, but firmed up in the late trade.

By Branson, Brown & Co. Ltd.

Chicago, May 2—Wheat: Prices held within a comparatively narrow range, the bearish May first private estimates running all the way from 599,000,000 to 646,000,000 bushels checking the buying demand while there was also pressure due to weak cables and unfavorable reports in regard to lake shipping conditions due to congestion at Eastern points, causing the temporary laying up of many lake boats.

Cables were ¾ to 2⅛ off with a slow demand reported owing to bearish crop advices from this side. European crop conditions were not favorable but this had little effect.

Frosts at a few points in Kansas were also reported, but had no influence on the market. The farm bill seems to be about the only reliance of the bulls at the present time outside of the fact that prices are cheap. Argentine shipments were estimated at 3,969,000 bushels.

Export business was of small proportions. There was further scattered liquidation in the May with the open interest reduced to 7,815,000 bushels. Look for trading market temporarily.

Corn: Firm early but showed less strength early with commission house selling on the hard spots and further liquidation in the May. Cash situation is satisfactory with light country sales and a good shipping demand. Sales being 145,000 with no special change in the basis. Local shipments were 160,000.

Wet weather was the rule over much of the belt and planting is being delayed in many sections. Argentine shipments were estimated at 6,496,000 and Europe will be well supplied from the Plate the next few months.

The market looks like a trading proposition. Total deliveries were 1,327,000 bushels.

Oats: Were relatively steady but extremely dull. Deliveries were 8,000 bushels. The movement continues light and local shipments were 175,000 bushels. Private reports indicate a smaller acreage than was expected.

Rye: Market showed a fairly steady tone with fair buying. Receipts were nil, deliveries were 145,000 bushels. Rye seems to be on a cheap basis but will depend on action in wheat.

NICKEL RISING AGAIN ON RAPID PROFIT INCREASE

Montreal, May 2 (By B.C. Bond).—The very considerable expansion in volume of trading is largely the result of heavy trading in Nickel and Brazilian. The rest of the list continues firm.

There is nothing lacking in evidence of a generally optimistic feeling as regards the market in the broad aspect.

The earnings statement for the first quarter for International Nickel, which is expected to make its appearance shortly, it is understood will show a sharp expansion in profits, which will not come as a surprise in view of the great increase in Nickel exports, as shown by the monthly figures issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. In the meantime, the company is making rapid progress on the Frood development, which continues to measure up to the most optimistic expectations. The technical position of the stock has undergone a notable improvement in the past few months, and appears in a responsive mood to any increase demand.

Dominion Textile has been a firmer spot in the trading here. The company's financial statement for the fiscal year ended March 21, 1929, will make its appearance in the course of about ten days, while the annual meeting of shareholders is scheduled for May 5. The company occupies an unusually strong financial position with net working capital shown in the last published report at over $9,250,000. Current operations of the company are understood to be running at nearly 100 per cent capacity.

Announcement is made by the Lyall Construction Company that a new contract has been made, involving satisfactory financial arrangements, with Montreal Island Power Company, due to the situation created through change in construction and consequent delays. Work on the back river development has been resumed in full force and accommodation to accompany it will be completed practically on time, that is, near the end of the present year. All the power produced by the Montreal Island Power Company will be taken by the Montreal, Light Heat and Power Consolidated.

May 4 is the last day when holders of Massey-Harris seven per cent preferred may decide whether they will convert their stock into the new five per cent preferred. Any preferred which has not been converted by May 4 will be redeemed by the company on May 15 at 110, plus accumulated dividend. Conversion must be through the Toronto office to the Toronto General Trusts Corporation. While some of the preferred has already been converted, officials in touch with the affairs of the Massey-Harris company say that it is impossible to estimate the percentage.

Chang Believed On Way to Japan

Tokio, May 2.—Press dispatches from Dairen, Liaotung (Japanese territory) said Marshal Chang Tsung-chang, former Shantung war lord, had appeared off Port Arthur in a native junk yesterday morning and was prevented from landing by Japanese police. He was in disguise.

The Japanese authorities of the Kwangtung leased territory denied the defeated war lord refuge, charging he had abused his former asylum there with his abortive coup in Shantung.

Since Chang Hsueh-liang has ordered Chang arrested if he enters Manchuria, he is now in the position where if he lands anywhere along the Chinese littoral he faces almost certain execution. Hence it was thought he would turn to Japan proper, where it was believed the authorities would permit his to reside under surveillance. Wu Kwang-hsin, Chang's lieutenant, has already been allowed to land at Moji.

TORONTO MINING MARKET

By H. E. Hunnings Leased Wire

Toronto, May 2.—Noranda sold up to 54.00 and International Nickel to 53.00 on the Toronto Standard Exchange to-day.

The western oil list was rising again, with Home Oil and Associated Oil the features. Home Oil went to over 24.00, while Associated Oil closed up at 5.15-5.20, a gain of more than sixty points in the last two days.

Heavy trading continued in Ajax between 120 and 136. It was announced that Ajax, beside having secured substantial acreage on the Cypress Hill structure, between Medicine Hat and Montana, plans to enter Turner Valley. Ajax has three wells in Western Ontario.

By H. E. Hunnings Leased Wire

Toronto, May 2—High-grade ore has been encountered by Noranda in opening up core body on the 735-foot level.

Grandview Mines is to double its mill capacity to 700 tons and to have the enlargement completed in three months.

The Quemont shaft at Quemont, a subsidiary of Mining Corporation, north of Noranda, is now reported at 900 feet, which is the horizon.

Maurice Summerhayes, M.E., who has assumed the post of general manager of Wright Hargreaves, has named L. B. Smith of Barry Hollinger as mine superintendent.

McDougall-Segur Split Expected; New Okalta Listed

By H. E. Hunning Leased Wire

Calgary, May 2 — Officials of McDougall-Segur said to-day that no decision had been reached yet by the directors regarding the split-up of the stock. The stock, however, is a heavy trader on the general impression that a split is due.

Okalta new stock has appeared on the Calgary Stock Exchange at around $6.00 a share. The new 100-for-1 split certificates should be ready for transfer at the first of next week.

Completion of Advance No. 5 well, which is to be undertaken by Imperial Oil, is the major importance to Baltac Oils, which owns ground between the Shell and Home Oil on the east. Advance is on the Western slope of the structure and if it proves a success, it will also have an important effect on the outlook of A. P. Consolidated. The latest ground is south of Baltac, but in about the same relative position of the structure as Advance. The Advance company has about 320 acres in all in this section.

OIL MARKET BOILING AGAIN; STOCKS JUMPING

(Miller, Court Over Leased Wires)

Calgary, May 2.—The oil market is apparently getting away again with a heavier volume of trade than ever coming on to the floor.

FIRST TEN-INCH HOLE

Calgary, May 2 (Miller, Court)—Oil stocks were stronger all along the line on the Calgary Stock Exchange to-day.

East Crest was one of the features, continuing its rise of the last two days and gaining another fifty points to-day to reach 5.00. The well is now down 3,880 feet, the ten-inch casing has been cemented and it is estimated the Devonian limestone will be reached between 4,200 and 4,300 feet, it was announced to-day. The whole field is watching this well as it is the largest hole in the territory, being ten inches, while the others have been only four inches. At Homestead, adjoining, the cellar has been completed and the lumber is being shipped in. Because of the East Crest situation, it is likely the stock will be listed soon.

A.P. Consolidated gained fifty points to sell at 4.85.

Mercury climbed from 160 to 180.

United Oils sold up to a new high at 18.75.

Calgary, May 2 (By Miller Court)—An increase of more than fifty per cent in net profits for 1928, as compared with 1927, is shown in the annual report of Royalite Oil Company Ltd. Net profits for the year amounted to $1.60 per share, as compared with slightly better than $1 during the previous year. The report shows that at December 31, the company had twenty-five wells drilled or drilling, as against eleven wells in December, 1927. Of these twenty-two wells, ten are producing.

Delay in hooking up the pump to Devenish No. 3 well has been caused by the loss of a bailer in the hole while the well was being deepened another five feet into the Ellis sands. Another bailer has been ordered from Okotoks and operations will be commenced immediately the bailer is received at the well. The well is rapidly filling with oil despite the tremendous back pressure from the 3,000-foot column of crude.

Some of the equipment for Calmont No. 2 has been taken to the drilling site and work is to be rushed ahead so that the well can be spudded in as quickly as possible.

Progress is being made at Illinois Alberta No. 2, which is eighty-one feet in the lime at a total depth of 3,631 feet.

One of the most important drilling operations in southern Turner Valley is that of Southwest Petroleum, an Imperial subsidiary. The company controls one section of 640 acres directly south of the Mayland Oil holdings and before launching actual drilling tests of the geology of the ground pretty thoroughly by a series of diamond drill holes of varying depth. Thus equipped a hole was spotted and operations launched. Very fast time is being made by the large rotary drill. Southwest Pete ground is said to be high on the structure, so that it may not be necessary to go as deep as Home No. 1, which got production at 5,270 feet.

WHITNEY LETTER

By Branson, Brown & Co. Ltd

New York, May 2.—Whitney, of the all Street Financial Service says today:

ODERATELY LOWER

When the recommendation was ade here yesterday to re-enter the arket in anticipation of a new mart record in the latter part of this ek or early next week, it was likeise stated that this re-entry should made on the reactions which were pected to be recorded yesterday and -day. In all, it was anticipated that e reactionary moves in these two ssions and perhaps a little additional the Friday morning, would be sufcient to approximately cancel a half two-thirds of Tuesday's rather radil gain. This, I believe, remains the tlook in view of the fact that there ll be some nervousness over the oker loans report which will appear ter the close to-day and which will, ndoubtedly, record a substantial adnce.

"In addition, it is unreasonable to pect any very marked easing in call oney until the end of the week or rly next week as cheques drawn in nnection with month-end disburseents will not be passed through the nks until one or two days after the ginning of the month. The importt factor is however, that the sound sues in the market are a purchase on actions and that this reaction is mply a retracement from Tuesday's w top to what had stood as the ghest average point recorded since e March break.

"I believe it may be accepted as a regone conclusion that there will be change in the rediscount rate. econd, that there will be an agreeent reached on German reparations thin the next two weeks and that hen this agreement is reached money ll work decidedly lower.

OMMENT

"U.S. Steel was almost sure to react ter release of the first quarter earngs statement. It is recommended at U.S. Steel be purchased within e range of 180-178, for as brilliant as e first quarter report is, rate of proction and the prevailing price level romises substantially larger earnings for the June quarter of the year. Anticipating that the month of May will be featured by substantial advances in the oil, rail and utility groups, I continue to urge that while long positions can be taken in Standard of New Jersey, that they be taken and that no thought be given to anything other than buying, on moderate reaction, the sound members of these three groups.

"Electric Power and Light, which established a new record yesterday, should be bought within the range of 70-75, as at least 90 and possibly 100 is in store for the stock.

"Coincident with the start of the company's stock dividend programme which I believe will be inaugurated at directors meeting this month.

"Buying recommendations are continued in Texas Gulf Sulphur, National Distillers and Associated Dry Goods below 55, and in the copper group, Andes Copper around 55 for an appropriate 7-10 point advance."

BROKER LOANS UP $40,000,000; RADIO, HARVESTER, BOSCH REACH NEW HIGHS

Wall Street, New York, May 2 (By B.C. Bond)—Loans on stocks and bonds to brokers and dealers by reporting Federal Reserve member banks in New York City increased $40,000,000 during the week ended May 1, to a total of $5,532,000,000.

This compares with $5,492,000,000 on April 24, with $5,793,000,000, the high record on March 20, and with $4,281,000,000 on May 2, 1928.

AUBURN RISES AGAIN

New York, May 2 (By B.C. Bond)—Auburn automobile, which has been one of the features of the market in the motor section, during the last few months, sold up to 188 to-day. It is expected the listing of the stock on the big board will go through in the next few days.

New York, May 2 (By B.C. Bond)—Radio Corporation was one of the star performers on the market here to-day, selling from the 107 level up to make a new high record price at 112¾. Radio was vigorously bid for. The report for the first quarter will be published within a week and while the first three months of the year are ordinarily not especially profitable for the radio industry, it is expected that the statement of the Radio Corporation for this period will show a substantial gain over the corresponding period of 1928.

The industrial section of the list furnished the chief strength to-day, and at the close the Dow Jones average of thirty industrials stood at 321.52, up 1.39 points for the day, while the average for twenty rails stood at 152.60, off 0.32 points for the day.

Sales totalled 4,175,000 shares.

No change was made in the Federal Reserve rediscount rate of 5 per cent.

Call money held at 10 per cent all day.

Among the other new highs, besides Radio, established to-day were: Bosch at 73½, Air Reduction which went from 121 to 129½, International Harvester at 118, Ludlum Steel at 95¾.

Johns Manville and American Radiator and Standard Sanitary were very strong on reports that the organizations will shortly be amalgamated.

Consolidated Gas was up on further reports of accumulation in the interest of United Corporation.

Chemical Electric and Westinghouse stepped to the front. Business of both concerns is showing large gains over last year.

The oil shares were quiet and almost stationary and the rails likewise.

The rise in International Harvester was based on the outlook for continued increases in sales, and also because of the company's known progress in the motor truck field.

Gains in the active issues were well maintained to the close and selling in the last hour was scattered, even though it was anticipated that brokers' loans would show a substantial increase over last week.

"We believe that the current phase of advance will carry the general market into new high ground," Hornblower and Weeks said to-day.

Columbia Gas and Electric statement issues after the close showed $3.04 a share on 3,372,808 common shares of no par earned for the first quarter, against $2.73 a common share in the first quarter of 1928. Net income for the twelve months ended March 31, 1929, was $30,167,760, after charges, equal to $7.26 a share of common, against $25,282,615, or $5.81 a share, in the preceding twelve months. Columbia Gas is offering common stockholders of record June 15 the right to subscribe to 843,284 additional common shares at $24 a share, at the rate of one new share for each ten shares held. At the current price of the common stock, the rights are worth more than $4 a share to stockholders.

Significant buying is reported in Willys-Overland wit an object at over thirty reported.

General news developments continue to reflect large industrial and mercantile activities. The report of department store sales for March by the Federal Reserve System shows a six per cent. gain in sales, with a three per cent. reduction in inventories.

New York, May 2.—Mack Truck recommended by us on April 26, has acted in a satisfactory manner during the period of unsettlement, and the moment pressure was lifted from the list began moving upward. The stock displayed strong tendencies yesterday and should continue gaining ground. Mack is now in an excellent position and has good prospects for the balance of the year. The stock has never been over-priced, and under the stimulus of buying, should readily gain. Purchases are recommended.

General Electric should not be overlooked. The stock has moved within a narrow range during the recent weeks and has held exceptionally well during the selling waves. General Electric is entitled to higher levels, and can gain ground quickly if buying turns towards this issue. Sometimes patience is necessary with General Electric, but the current levels appear decidedly attractive and purchases are recommended.

American Can lifted the old high. Buying on the new high was exceedingly strong, and the prediction that the stock will now reach the price of 160 is taken with more credence than ever before. "Can" is in a good position to stage further gains, and the new high levels should not cause any one to take profit. We have repeatedly recommended American Can from the lowest levels of the year, and have seen no reason for changing the position at any time. "Can" is still good for further advance, and purchases should bring profit even if bought at the top.

Consolidated Gas easily moved upward. The technical position of this stock has been strengthened considerably during the recent reactionary wave, and owing to the favorable outlook of the major utilities, substantial gains in this issue can be anticipated. Gas continues to be a favorite of a number of investment trusts and several super-power organizations. The floating supply is rapidly decreasing and this should bring levels to the stock. We recommended purchases.

Erie may rest for a little while, but the moment attention turns to the rails a strong advance in Erie can be anticipated. The road is likely to show better than $8 per share this year, and with other favorable prospects the stock should do better marketwise. We recommended accumulations.

Business Must Help Masses, Filene Asserts

Mass Production Making Better World, Says Great Store Head

He Denies That Workers' Soul Suffers Because of Machine Age

Boston, May 2—Big business, under modern conditions, must inevitably be beneficent business, according to Edward A. Filene, president of the Wm. Filene's Sons Company of Boston. In the May issue of The Atlantic Monthly, published to-day, Mr. Filene answers the critics of modern industrial life who see social dangers in the mass methods of present-day machine civilization. "Mass production," Mr. Filene claims, "is making a better world."

The social benefits of modern business are not the result of any new access of altruism, Mr. Filene admits. He maintains, however, that for the first time in history business leaders have come to see that their own prosperity can come only through the prosperity of the masses of people. The demands of present-day competition Mr. Filene argues, are forcing industry to organize in such a way as to benefit the masses of people as a first necessity for its own self preservation. The logic of economic facts promises to mankind through developing capitalism the very benefits that socialism and communism seek through class conflict and revolution—and with far less social waste.

SCOPE OF BENEFIT

"I have studied mass production in all of its aspects since its inception, and have watched its development," says Mr. Filene. "I have studied especially closely its social and economic aspects and I can say without qualification that if it is used by leaders who understand that in order to make the greatest total profits they must pay ever higher wages, constantly reduce prices and keep profits per unit of output down to the very minimum, mass production holds no dangers to the common welfare, but, on the contrary, holds possibilities of accomplishing for mankind all of the goods that theoretical reformers or irrational radicals hope to secure by revolutionary means.

"In the past the purpose of Big Business was, too often, to create a monopoly to increase prices. To-day Big Business has as its aim the lowering of costs and prices through large-volume production and sales. There is a sound business reason for this. Scientific mass producers soon discovered that goods must be sold as well as manufactured. It would be foolish, for instance, to make a million automobiles or two million pairs of shoes if you were going to charge $25,000 for each automobile and $50 for each pair of shoes.

PUBLIC NOW SETS PRICE

"Now business recognizes that the consumer, not the manufacturer, sets the selling price. Under the old industrial system factories produced only the limited number of articles they thought they could sell. Then, generally, they computed their costs, added their profits and so established a selling price. Under mass production and mass distribution, the price that the public can pay determines the selling price, and, as a rule, the lower the price is set, the larger the market and the greater the total profits of Big Business. So we find strangely that the desire for profits is a force for lower prices. The manufacturer produces in such large volume that his lower costs and reduced overhead expense enable him to sell at a price the masses can afford to pay."

NOT KILLING WORKER'S SOUL

Mr. Filene attempts to answer, one after another, the main objections which are raised to modern mass methods of production and distribution: That they make the worker the slave of the machine; that they kill the worker's soul; that, by increasing industrial efficiency, they cause unemployment; and that, by standardizing life, they eliminate beauty and variety. Mr. Filene denies each of these allegations and gives his reasons for so doing.

The new technique, he claims, is making the machine the slave of man rather than the opposite. "Industrial engineers insist that the new methods reduce the fatigue which the worker experiences from a day's work." Machine technique has, he says, immeasurably reduced the hard physical labor of the world.

GREATER SCOPE FOR CREATION

Far from destroying the creative genius of the individual, our modern civilization, according to Mr. Filene, gives increased scope for it. "There are more skilled craftsmen employed to-day than ever before in proportion to the population," while the unskilled masses have more leisure to follow their individual desires after working hours.

Mr. Filene admits that temporary unemployment may be created by the application of labor saving devices and methods; but he claims that mass production, by reducing prices and increasing wages, has increased the purchasing power of everyone, which, in time has brought a vast expansion of industry and a net increase in employment.

INCREASING BEAUTY

Instead of eliminating beauty and variety Mr. Filene maintains modern industrial methods have made beauty pay. Standardization, he claims, does not imply a single style for everything but, rather, specialization in manufacturing and the elimination of variations where they serve no useful purpose. The varieties of meat choppers, for example, he points out, have been reduced from eighteen to three; but the beauty and variety of automobiles have increased as the industry has progressed in the technique of mass production. "And, finally, mass production puts the beautiful things it produces within the reach of the masses, and creates an appreciation for beauty where it did not exist before."

New Chemical Bonds Again Features

New York, May 2.—Two recent additions to the semi-speculative convertible group—American I.G. Chemical 5½s and American Telephone 4½s—were the pivots of the trading in the bond market to-day.

Subject to heavy trading since they were admitted to dealings last Friday, the Chemical's forward move continued at an accelerated pace, and in the early trading they shot past 110 for a rise of 8 points and 15 above the subscription price. This rapid rise, however, tempted profit-taking and a drop of 4 or 5 points followed. By noon more than $700,000 par value of the debentures had been traded.

The Telephone convertibles, while less spectacular than the Chemicals, also moved along rapidly, but failed to hold early gains when the stock turned downward.

Outside the convertible group, trading continued extremely dull.

United States Government obligations, showing the improvement in the money market, were steady.

The foreign loans, including the German issues, which have been soft recently, as a result of doubt over the outcome of the repaartions conference, were steady and quiet.

NEW INSURANCE PLAN SUGGESTED FOR DOMINION

Commons Committee Endorses Unemployment and Sickness Protection

Ottawa, May 2.—The principle of insurance against unemployment, sickness and invalidity is accepted and endorsed by the special committee on industrial and international relations in a report presented by its chairman, Cameron R. McIntosh, Liberal, North Battleford, in the House of Commons yesterday.

The insurance should be based on compulsory contributions derived from the state, employer and employees, the report states.

"Your committee," states the report, "recognizes that while it is highly desirable that such legislation should be uniform in all the provinces, and while social insurance has a Federal aspect, nevertheless, according to the Department of Justice under our constitution legislative jurisdiction in relation to the establishment of a compulsory system of unemployment insurance is vested exclusively in the provincial legislatures.

"Your committee finds that the provinces, on being consulted by the Department of Labor with regard to their attitude towards the establishment of a general scheme, do not appear to be prepared to take immediate action."

SUGGESTIONS MADE

Under these circumstances the committee submits recommendations, including the following:

"(a) That with regard to sickness insurance the Department of Pensions and National Health be requested to initiate a comprehensive plan of the field of public health with special reference to a national health programme. In this it is believed it would be possible to secure the co-operation of the provincial and municipal health departments as well as the organized medical profession.

"(b) That in the forthcoming census provision should be made for the securing of the fullest possible data regarding the extent of unemployment and sickness, and that this should be compiled and published at as early a date as possible.

"(c) That the Federal Government should be requested to bring the subject matter of this reference before the next Federal-Provincial Conference; and your committee suggests, when the agenda for such a conference is being arranged, that the provincial governments be invited to send representatives of the employers and employees to discuss the subject matter of this report."

The New York Gazette was the first newspaper to be published in New York state. It was published in 1725.

Only 63 children out of every 1,000 now die during the first year of life. Formerly 250 out of 1,000 died during the first year.

"LOVE IS OF THE VALLEY"

By

DAVID LYALL

"You are an isolated creature, Bee. You remind me of Tennyson's maid whom the shepherd implored to come down from the mountain," said Alison. "You don't give yourself a chance. How is the business getting on?"

Alison did not very often ask because she knew that a good many snubs had been administered to the courageous young woman who had set aside and denied all the tenets of her own order and plunged into the world of trade.

"The business is all right and I'm getting to like it. Madame Theodore is quite pleased with my progress and I believe she will retire even earlier than she intended."

"Will she leave the house?"

Beatrice visibly brightened at the question.

"Yes, I think she will, and what I would really like is to get Ida to come and keep house for me there, leaving Lotta to carry on her own boarding-house."

"I don't think she'll let Ida do that, dear. Of course a pretty girl like Ida is a great asset to the house."

Beatrice's color slightly rose and proud mouth tightened.

"It's just because of that I want to get her away. I'm afraid of that crowd, Alison, and Ida is very susceptible to flattery, and has very little insight where men are concerned. Oh dear, oh dear, but life is a problem. I'm very tired of it. Sometimes I wish I'd never been born. To-day I wish it very particularly."

"Oh, cheer up, the worst is over, and to revert to poor young Brodie, don't nip him in the bud, Bee. If he's sensitive about his father's honor you ought to understand him and sympathize with him. And anyhow, if he's leaving so soon he's not likely to encroach on you very often."

Beatrice said neither yea nor nay, but changed the subject with an abruptness which indicated that at the moment she desired it to be closed. She stayed for about half an hour, but declined to wait till the minister came in to see her home.

"He will be tired, Alison, and wouldn't thank you for tacking me on to him. Give him my love and if you should be writing to Jimmy tell him to hurry up and come and take Ida away. That would make me so happy. I'd be able to offer a brighter face to my own trouble." She kissed Alison hastily, though not given to caresses, and her two bright tears did not escape Alison's notice. She was sitting knitting her brows over the remnant of the darning when her husband came in.

"How did you come, Don? Did you meet Beatrice?"

"No. I didn't come that way. Has she been here?"

"Yes, and all sorts of queer things are happening. Come and sit down. Mercy, how tired you look! Never mind, I've got something very nice keeping hot for you."

A little tray was spread on the end of the table and a few steps to the kitchen brought the appetising morsel which, with a cup of delicious coffee, quickly caused Donald Grier to forget his weariness.

His wife's bright smile, the ready comradeship, never failed him, and though they had few assets besides their love for one another and their children, there were few happier or more care-free couples in the whole of Edinburgh.

"Now tell me about Beatrice," he said, as he drew in with a smile of real satisfaction to the table.

"Not till you've told me whether you made a good speech. Did you mind to leave out the bit I told you to leave out, and to put in the other bit?"

"I don't know. I'm not sure, but anyway, they seemed to like it, and we got a good collection, nine pounds. They said it was a record."

"Good! They might have sent you home in a cab to mark their sense of gratitude. Beatrice is worrying about a number of things, the boarding-house first and foremost, and Ida being mixed up with its heterogeneous units. Mrs. Heron has asked her to give up her bedroom for a nephew of the German boarder."

"And is she going to do it?"

"Well, you see, she hasn't much choice, because she doesn't pay very much yet. But that wasn't what brought her to-night. It was to tell me she's had a visit from Compton Brodie's son."

"Has she indeed? Where did he come from and what did he want?" asked the minister, without much show of interest.

"You're thinking of the effect you created at your meeting, Don, so I won't tell you yet. I'm unfastening your boots now. Who says I'm not a model wife?"

He stooped and, dropping his hand on her bright head, drew her to him for a moment.

"Bless you, Allie, you're my lodestar, my sheet anchor, my everything."

"Oh, good! I didn't think I was so valuable. To-night I'm feeling particularly cheap. Do you think there will be any washing in Heaven, because if there is I shall go on strike."

A small spasm crossed the minister's grave lips. He hated to have her work so hard. Year by year expenses increased, and they were ambitious for their clever children, and there never was any margin nor likely to be one. Sometimes the future filled them with a kind of blank dismay.

Then again they had their bright days, when hope and vision lifted them up on the wings of desire and expectation far above sordid cares.

"Now, I do want to hear about Beatrice. Was she on a very high horse to-night?"

"Yes, a fiery, untamed steed where John Brodie was concerned, and yet I don't know! I seemed to detect a secret flutter of interest which she was terrified to acknowledge even to herself. I'd like to see him. He must be a very interesting man."

"In what way? Like his father at all?"

"No, no, not that sort at all. Serious-minded, Bee says, and determined to make reparation. He wants her to co-operate."

"How? He hasn't the right to ask for that, for poor old Mr. Heron was perfectly innocent."

"He wants it all the same. He's earning good money in a Government appointment out in the Malay States, and he is only here for a fortnight. Do you think a fortnight is long enough, Don?"

"Long enough for what?"

"Well, for Cupid to do a nice little bit of work."

Donald Grier put back his handsome head and laughed. He was very like his brother Jimmy in some ways, but on a larger scale altogether, with a head like a Viking, and masses of curly, dark hair which, being cut very short, gave his head a leonine appearance.

"What are you plotting now?"

"Nothing. Do you mind the first night you came to Carburn Manse?"

"Ay, fine."

"Well, wasn't the deed done that night?"

"It was. I made up my mind I'd marry you whether you would or not."

"Well, in a fortnight John Brodie might get that far, if he's a masterful man."

"But Beatrice Heron is a wonderful woman, she'll take a lot of courting, Allie, and I'd not like to be the poor beggar, frankly, much as I like her."

Allie laughed in scorn.

"You're a mere infant in the office and affairs of love, Donald Grier. The right man will open the door of Beatrice Heron's heart without the smallest trouble, and he'll find treasures there, too, treasures rich and rare. I've got it all cut and dried, Don. They'll fall in love, together wipe off the reproach, and end in story book fashion by going back together to live at Linnorie."

"You're a very good wife, an excellent cook, Allie, and a mother in a thousand, but I'm not sure whether you're not a better novelist spoiled in the making."

"Wait and see!" said Allie, as she picked up the tray and vanished with it, laughing over her shoulder at him with all the coquetry and charm of long ago.

CHAPTER XVI

A week passed away, but John Brodie did not call again at the business house of Madame Theodore. In spite of her brave protestations to Alison Grier and to herself, Beatrice was distinctly disappointed. A wistfulness crept into her eyes, she was conscious of an impulse to start with every knock or opening of the door. When the little messenger girl approached her about any trivial thing she listened with an air of expectancy out of proportion to the matter in hand.

Upon Madame Theodore these signs and portents were not lost. Beatrice had acquainted her in part with what had passed between her and Brodie at their memorable meeting and interview. The old woman had made even less comment than Alison, but drew her own conclusions and thought her own thoughts.

She too, was disappointed that John Brodie made no second effort to see Beatrice and over their afternoon tea on the eighth day she said bluntly:

"I suppose that Brodie man must have gone back to Singapore, as he never looked near again. I'm afraid you snubbed him too effectively."

Beatrice flushed rather guiltily, for the same thought was troubling her.

"It is a matter of no consequence to me whether he comes back. There was no reason in the world why he should ever have come at all."

Once more it was Beatrice at her sweet, but Theodora Duncan, Scotch to the backbone herself, merely smiled: "It is a very prickly pear, my dear, but will be very good to eat—some day."

MEMORIAL HALL CONCERT SUCCESS

A splendid array of talent was assembled for the delightful concert given at the Memorial Hall last evening under the auspices of the Cathedral Women's Parish Guild and in aid of the new cathedral funds, and an appreciative audience expressed its approval in unmistakable fashion after each number.

The Misses Mary and Adele Bucklin and Miss Dorothy Morton in instrumental trios for violin 'cello and piano opened the programme with the Rubenstein "Romance" and closed it with the Beethoven-Kreisler "Andante." Their ensemble and individual playing is of a very high standard, and to an excellent technique they add imagination. Miss Dorothy Greenwood, fresh from her recent triumphs at the Musical Festival, again proved a brilliant young artist in her numbers, the two Scarlatti sonatas, a Chopin nocturne and waltz, a Brahms Rhapsody and a Chopin waltz.

Mrs. James Merrix, mezzo, gave a charming rendering of a trio of songs, "Bird Songs at Eventide" being particularly beautiful; Mrs. Otto Weller, contralto, sang with characteristic warmth of tone and artistry of expression Goring Thomas's "Summer Night," and Dorothy Forster's "Perhaps," Mr. Charles Conyers and Mr. Thomas Kelway sang the remaining groups, the former appearing twice, and winning particular favor with his second encore, "Duna," while Mr. Kelway's "Deeper Than the Flowing Tide" was equally popular following his initial number. All the singers had a capable and sympathetic accompanist in Mrs. C. Warn.

The programme was splendidly rounded out by a clever dramatic feature, "Jealousy," played by Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Corby with much verve and finish.

Smart Doings of Animals

TERRIER LEARNS USE OF HOT WATER BOTTLE

Bab was a fox terrier which used to be well known in New Albany, Ind., for her great intelligence.

She became the mother of two puppies. One day one was found to be dead and the other nearly so. Bab's people brought the surviving puppy into the house, forced some stimulant down him, and then placed a hot water bottle against his stomach, which was swollen hard. He seemed to grow better, a fact notice by Bab, and when the mistress took the hot water bottle away to refill it, the water having chilled, the fox terrier raised a rumpus. But when she saw the bottle brought back, she asked for it. It was placed in her mouth, whereupon she went to the basket containing her ailing child and poked it under the puppy's stomach.

It recovered rapidly. When its better condition was evident, Babs ran off and soon reappeared with the body of her dead offspring. She had a lot of faith in the hot water bottle, but this time it could do no good.

THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES by KNICK

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

The Tinymites decided they had best be on their merry way. Said Scouty, "There's no need to hang around here any more. Our cabin's smashed. The boards are loose. No more is it of any use. Let's look around this island. Some new thrills may be in store."

Then Clowny snapped, "Well, I don't know if it is safe for us to go. We've never seen this place before and do not know what's here. Perhaps the folks who own this place will give us all a thrilling chase, but if the island's vacant there is not a thing to fear."

The Goofygoo then spoke. Said he, "Say, if you leave the plans to me, I'll lead you on in safety. I am sure 'twill be all right. If we meet folks who do not like our being here, we'll quickly hike away. Now let's get started 'ere the day drifts into night."

So, off they trudged, all hand in hand to look around the new-found land. The Goofygoo was in the lead. He didn't seem to mind. It wasn't long till Coppy said, "I'm getting dizzy in the head. I guess it's 'cause I'm hungry. Some good food we ought to find."

"Oh, look!" cried Clowny. "In that tree, the home of honey bees I see." Poor Clowny didn't know it was a hornets' nest instead. "Let's knock it down," he loudly cried. "We may find honey stored inside. And honey's good. I've often had it on a slice of bread."

Then Clowny found a stick nearby, and grabbing it he shouted, "I will jar the thing until it falls, and then 'twill be our own." They all were for this novel plan, 'cept Scouty. He exclaimed, "I can see where we might find trouble. Why not leave that thing alone?"

(The Tinymites come to grief in the next story.)

To-morrow's Horoscope

FRIDAY, MAY 3, 1929

Benefic and malefic aspects counterbalance in this day's horoscope, which has certain contradictory indications, according to astrology.

Women should find the planetary influences exceedingly energizing and stimulating under this direction of the stars.

It is a time when wives and mothers will find much joy in domestic interests, the seers announce. Dress also will claim a new sort of attention.

Individualism, so strongly manifested now by women as well as men, will be expressed in attire more definitely than in recent years, the seers prophesy.

This is read as a fortunate day for theatres and for all who act in them, making for finer attainments in dramatic presentation.

All the signs appear to be most favorable to bankers and financiers. For more than a year immense consolidation of international interests has been foretold, and while certain prophecies have been fulfilled greater amalgamations are prognosticated.

The seers declare that the planetary influences which have been read as inspiring co-operation will affect all lines of business.

Under this sway secrecy and even deception may be expected, for there is an aspect making for double-dealing.

It is not a fortunate day for signing contracts or leases. Oil deals may be peculiarly unlucky, it is forecast.

Women are especially warned not to speculate, for they will be inclined to take more chances than men.

The feminine mind will be more open than the masculine to the influence of the stars that encourage daring and recklessness while this sway prevails.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a successful year. They should be cautious lest they encounter some sort of treachery.

Children born on this day probably will be aspiring in mind and exceedingly loyal in nature. These subjects of Taurus are likely to be intense in their emotions, but able to compel their minds to rule.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily's Funny Flowers

Copyright, 1929, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate

By HOWARD R. GARIS

When Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy was told by Mrs. Longears, the rabbit lady, one afternoon that Mr. and Mrs. Twistytail were coming to supper, the muskrat lady housekeeper said:

"We ought to have a bouquet of flowers for the table."

"Isn't it too early for flowers?" asked Mrs. Longears, who was counting the spoons to make sure she had enough.

"Oh, no," squeaked Nurse Jane, who had a funny voice. "Uncle Wiggily, who was out doing his May dance yesterday, told me he saw many flowers in the fields."

"Then Uncle Wiggily ought to be the one to get you a bouquet for the table," said Mrs. Longears.

"I'll ask him as soon as he comes back from his adventure trip," said Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "I surely want the table to look pretty when those pigs come to supper."

She did not speak of pigs as you or I might have done, meaning those who eat too much. Though, to tell you the truth, Mr. and Mrs. Twistytail were very good eaters. But they were a gentleman and lady pig, so of course Nurse Jane was right in saying she wanted her table to look nice when those pigs came to supper.

"Will you gather me some flowers?"

After a while Uncle Wiggily hopped back from where he had been roaming in the woods and skipping over the fields looking for adventures.

"Did you find any?" asked Nurse Jane.

"Not a one, I am sorry to say," sadly answered the rabbit.

"Well, I'll give you another chance," said Nurse Jane. "It is getting late and will soon be dark. But will you go to the meadow for me?"

"What for?" Uncle Wiggily wanted to know.

"To pick some Spring flowers so the table will look pretty when Mr. and Mrs. Twistytail come to supper, which they will do pretty soon," said Nurse Jane. "Will you go to the meadow and gather me some flowers?"

"Surely I will," answered Uncle Wiggily and soon he was again hopping over the fields and through the woods on his way to the meadow.

He knew where the Spring flowers grew, for he had seen them nodding their heads in the wind when he did his May dance the day before. But it was now getting dark.

"And I'm not sure I can see to pick flowers," thought the bunny. "I might pick only grass and leaves instead of blossoms. I guess when I get to the meadow I'll have to ask the flowers themselves to tell me where they are."

For Uncle Wiggily knew that flowers have a language.

Surely enough, when he reached the flower meadow it was quite dark and he could see no blossoms. But he knew they were there, so, standing on a little hump of grass, Uncle Wiggily called:

"Flowers, flowers, if you're able, come and cluster on my table!"

And then the flowers, nestling down in the grass, laughed among themselves and one said:

"Let's play a joke on Uncle Wiggily. Let's tell him who we are, but let's make riddles, or puzzles of our names. And we won't go to his table unless he can guess our names."

"Oh, how funny that will be!" said another flower. "Let's do it."

So one flower said:

"I'll come to your table, Uncle Wiggily, if you can guess my name. I am the eye of day. Now who am I?"

"Ha! Let me see!" murmured Uncle Wiggily. "The eye of day. Why—why—you must be a daisy!" he cried.

"Right!" answered the flower, "and you may pick me for your table."

So Uncle Wiggily picked some daisies and then another blossom said:

"See if you can guess my name. I am a house to let!"

"A house to let! A house to let!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily, and he was going to give up when, all at once he smelled sweet perfume and he said: "You must be a violet! Are you?"

"Yes, I am," said the blue blossom, and so Uncle Wiggily picked some violet blossoms. Then another flower said:

"I am a well-dressed, roaring animal. What is my name?"

"Let me see," murmured the bunny. "A well-dressed, roaring animal. Why, you must be a dandy lion or a dandelion!" he chuckled.

"Right!" said the dandelion, so those blossoms were picked and then the other flower said:

"You can't guess my name. I am a kitchen measure."

"A kitchen measure!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "Oh, I know, a cup of butter for cake. Ha! I have you, my buttercup!" So with daisies, violets, dandelions and buttercups there were plenty of flowers for the table and Mrs. Twistytail said they were lovely. So did her husband.

And if the scrubbing brush will clean the teeth of the garden rake this afternoon, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Tommy's top.

University Will Give Out Poultry Data to Farmers

The best means of giving the farmers of the Province the latest data on poultry raising occasioned much discussion at a meeting of the Department of Agriculture authorities and representatives of the University of British Columbia in the rooms of the Department of Agriculture yesterday.

Throughout the year investigations are being carried on by the University of British Columbia, and it was the desire of this institution as well as that of the Department of Agriculture to give the farmers of the Province the benefit of their experiments. The matter will be further considered at another meeting of the two bodies on May 10.

Both the Hon. W. Atkinson, Minister of Agriculture, and his deputy, J. B. Munro, attended the meeting. Others present were President L. S. Klinck, Dean F. M. Clement of the faculty of agriculture, and Professor Lloyd, all of the University of British Columbia, and J. R. Terry, chief poultry instructor, and W. J. Bonavia, departmental secretary, both of the Department of Agriculture.

During the meeting the announcement was made that approximately $100,000 worth of registered poultry stock, which had come under the R.O.P. tests, had been marketed by British Columbia poultrymen.

PREMIER TOLMIE IN MONTREAL

Urges Eastern Canadians to Learn More About British Columbia

Montreal, May 2.—Conditions in British Columbia were very good and the outlook for the future excellent, declared Hon. S. F. Tolmie, Premier of that Province, in an interview here yesterday. Dr. Tolmie is on a holiday and also to do a "little business for his Province" and will leave to-morrow for Ottawa and then go home.

"There is, perhaps, a lack of knowledge of our territory among Canadians generally," Dr. Tolmie added. "It has only to be known to be appreciated. Our ports are open the year round. There is a growing commerce across the Pacific, where we have hundreds of millions of people who are beginning to consume Canadian products. I think that if there is one thing Canada needs more than another it is a better knowledge of ourselves."

CAMPAIGN TO CUT FOREST FIRES OPENS

Canadian Forestry Association Operates Lecture Cars to Arouse Public Interest

To make 1929 a record year in forest fire suppression, despite grave warnings from the meteorological bureau that a dry and hazardous Summer will probably be experienced, the Canadian Forestry Association has opened an intensive educational campaign, with the slogan of "Keep the Forests Green."

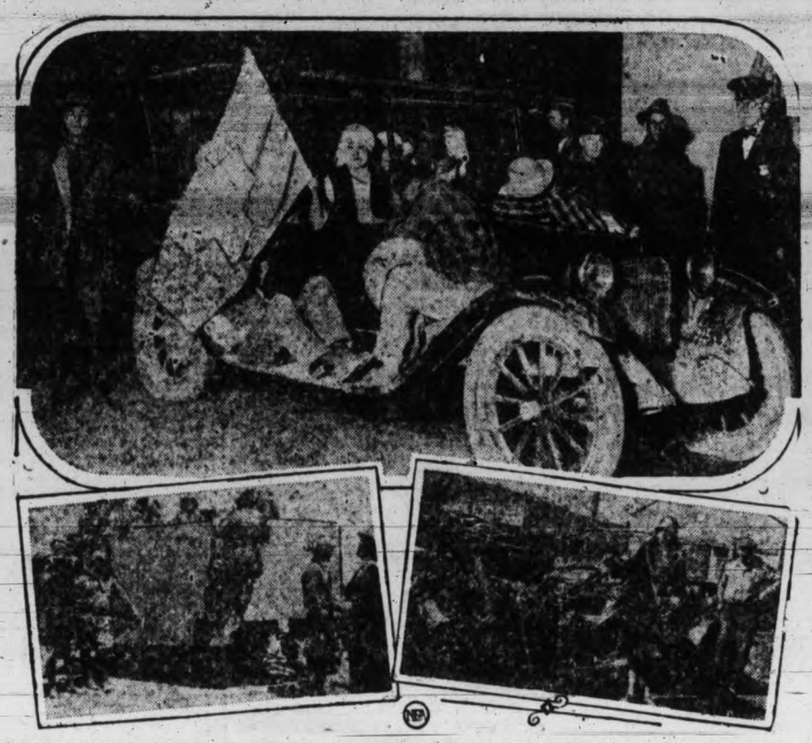
Lecture cars, equipped with literature and moving pictures, have been placed in service in British Columbia, one being operated on Vancouver Island, in charge of S. A. Anfield, and the other touring the mainland with E. V. Ablett as lecturer.

The car assigned to Vancouver Island has been touring in the vicinity of Victoria for some days, with an itinerary of addresses before schools, clubs, church organizations and other bodies. Great interest in the work of forest protection has been evidenced, and the work is about to be extended by a three months' tour to every Island community which can be reached by road.

The car assigned to the mainland yesterday commenced a seven months' tour of the interior of the Province, and will show an entirely new programme of pictures.

In May and June a railway car, equipped by the Forestry Association, will traverse the British Columbia lines of the Canadian National Railways, to bring the importance of forest fire prevention before the districts served.

BRINGING WOUNDED MEXICANS INTO U.S.



A car of the Mexican White Cross, bringing into the United States a half dozen wounded Mexican rebels after the fighting along the border, is shown above. Note how the wounded men are placed upon the running board. To the left, below, federal soldiers are looking over a tractor tank captured from the revolutionists during the battle at Naco, Sonora. Below, right, is shown the wreckage of an automobile that was struck by a rebel bomb. The bomb cut the gasoline tank and fire destroyed the machine.

GREETER AT BORDER HERE

William A. Magor Originated "Guests of Canada" Idea For Motor Cars

William A. Magor of Montreal, originator of the "Guests of Canada" banner idea for automobiles crossing the international border, is at the Dominion Hotel to-day.

Over 14,000 of these "guest" banners were issued at the border last year, and Mr. Magor is convinced that every car crossing the imaginary line this season will carry one on the windshield.

In a semi-official way, Mr. Magor has for several seasons been host at the Canadian border, stationed at Lacolle, Que., where the King Edward Highway is linked with the highway to New York.

Last season he was stationed at Blaine, on the Pacific Highway, and greeted many thousands of tourists arriving in British Columbia from the United States.

This year he expects to have associated with him at Blaine Captain McNeil of Surrey.

While in Quebec Mr. Magor distributed to American motorists a circular letter of welcome from the Quebec Government.

He plans to secure a similar letter from the British Columbia Government, and in this connection he called upon Ministers yesterday at the Parliament Buildings. With a view to accommodating inbound and outbound motorists this year, a change is planned in the reading of the lithographed banners, "Guests to Canada" and "Guests From Canada" having been decided upon, Mr. Magor stated.

Designed to cement the friendly international feeling, a new automobile sticker bearing the inscription, "Our Best Bond, Good Fellowship," will be issued at the border.

Chicago Land Suit Is For $5,000,000

Chicago, May 2—Heirs of "Cap'n" George Wellington Streeter, who for years waged a fight for possession of a portion of the Chicago lake front valued at $800,000,000, have taken up the picturesque old squatter's legal battle.

A bill filed in behalf of the heirs in court here seeks $5,000,000 damages from present holders of the land. They claim Captain Streeter settled on the lake front on July 10, 1886, and established clear title to the land, which with the shifting shore line now encompasses the enormously valuable property.

The turbulent old "Cap'n" and "Ma" Streeter guarded with muskets for many years the land they claimed. When the "buccaneer" died his aged mate carried on. Since the death of "Ma," the 186 acres claimed became the sites of hundreds of structures on North Michigan Avenue.

The directors are anxious that the list be representative as possible and at the same time that there be worth-while competition in each class.

School sports and Highland dancing will again be part of the Visitors' Day attractions and a committee has in hand consideration of other features.

Information regarding the fair can be obtained from the secretary, Capt. Nat. Gray of Saanichton. Telephone Keating 24Y.
